Richland Farmer Dies In Auto-Truck Crash

7 Others Hurt Near Plymouth

Walter Lehman Killed In Mishap

Walter Glenn Lehman, 52, of Shelby, R. D. 1, Franklin township farmer and livestock dealer, was killed and seven other persons were injured in a truck-auto collision late yesterday near Plymouth.

Sheriff's deputies, called to the scene by Marshall Bob Meiser of Plymouth, listed the injured as:

George Meyers, a passenger in the truck with Lehman, believed a resident of Shelby, bruises.

Donald Handwork, 6, of 236 Bowman street, head injuries.

Jane Hughes, 17, of Shiloh, abrasions of the face and head.

Nora Handwork, 18, of 236 Bowman street, lacerations of the arm and possible skull fracture.

Carol Sue Witchie, 16, of Shiloh, fracture of the pelvis.

David Witchie, also of Shiloh laceration of the ear.

Two horses in Lehman's truck were not injured.

Sheriff E. P. Long said today he would turn the evidence from the investigation of the accident over to Prosecutor Harold Lutz. Sheriff Long said witnesses stated the car driven by Spino failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of the Plymouth-Springmill and Updyke roads about two miles south of Plymouth. The accident occurred about 5 p. m.

12TH VICTIM

Mr. Lehman was Richland county's 12th highway accident victim this year. Nine lost their lives during the same period last year.

Deputies said the Lehman truck was struck by the car, thrown again a utility pole at the southeast corner of the intersection and then hurled 40 feet on down the Updyke road. Lehman was traveling south on the Plymouth-Springmill road. Spino was headed east on the Updyke road.

Deputies said the youngsters in the Spino car were returning from swimming. Spino, Nora Hardwork and Carol Witchie were being X-rayed at the Shelby Memorial hospital today. David Witchie was released after first aid and the Hughes girl was released early today. Hospital attendants said Myers, treated yesterday by a doctor, will be admitted today. The Hardwork boy was treated by a physician in Shiloh.

Mr. Lehman was born in Butler township on Oct. 6, 1896 and had lived in the Shelby area his entire life. He was a member of the Pleasant Valley Baptist church and a Seventh degree member of the Ganges Grange.

Surviving are his wife, Fern Boggs Lehman; three sons, Mervin at home; Raymond B. of Pavonia, and Vance W., at home; two grandchildren; three brothers, Merle, William and Charles; four sisters, Mrs. Charles Hess, Mrs. Charles Callahan, Mrs. Carl Copeland and Miss Cora Lehman, all of this area.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Finefrock funeral home, Rev. Ralph Mount, pastor of the Pleasant Valley church, assisted by Rev. James G. Ellington, will officiate. Burial will be in Pleasant Valley cemetery. Friends may call at the home on State Route 96, east of Ganges, Friday evening.

Plane Burns, Makes Port

SHANNON, IRELAND —(UP) — Pan American airline's swanky Stratocruiser America, carrying 63 persons on a flight from London to New York, caught fire over the Atlantic today, but limped 600 miles back to Shannon on three engines and landed safely.

The 53 passengers and 10 crew members donned life jackets and readied life rafts in preparation for "ditching" the luxurious new airliner before the fire burned out.

The propeller of the engine burned away and dropped into the sea before the fire was extinguished.

Paddles Way From Phone To Jail Cell

CHICAGO — (INS) — Chicago police provided an anchor today for a bookie arrested on a raft.

Authorities who learned a handbook was in operation in a tavern yesterday used a crowbar to open a trap door to the basement and dropped with a splash into four feet of water.

There, in the middle of the underground pool, was Arthur Olsen, 33, riding the waves on a raft.

Olson was described as paddling like fury between three telephones, and police said he was taking horse bets.

FCC Ruling Shifts Police Radio Band

$10,000 Loss Faced By City

Mansfield's police department may be forced to buy new radio equipment at a cost of about $10,000 because of a Federal Communications Commission ruling, Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab told city council last night.

The FCC ruling, which goes into effect July 1, 1950, requires the police department to change to a higher frequency band, which means all new equipment here, the chief added.

The FCC is attempting to move all police radio to a higher frequency band, Paul Cornell, a radio manufacturer's representative told council.

He said Mansfield's radio equipment would be worth "a couple hundred dollars" in a trade on the new equipment. The chief estimated the equipment cost $5,500 when it was installed.

When asked by a councilman if the FCC would actually force every police station to operate on the higher frequency bands, Cornell answered "I don't know. The FCC is very unpredictable."

The frequency change works a hardship on cities that have recently purchased radio equipment, but it will give better police radio service, Cornell said.

With the new equipment it will be possible for Mansfield police to communicate by radio with police in surrounding cities, he said.

The 37.9 megacycle frequency now used by Mansfield police radio will be a highway maintainence band under the new ruling, Cornell said.

Police radio is being boosted to 150 and 160 megacycle frequencies, he added.

The $10,000 estimate was for the main transmitter, mobile units in all police vehicles, and four mobile units for other city automobiles.

Near Accord On Housing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration's vast housing bill today hit the final lap of its long trip through Congress.

Democratic leaders confidently expected to hand the trimmed-down measure to President Truman before the day was over, following its approval in compromise form late yesterday by a House-Senate conference committee.

The bill, marking the first major success for Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal" program, was passed in differing versions by the Senate and House. It calls for a multi-billion dollar program of public housing, slum clearance and farm housing aids.

All that was needed before Mr. Truman could sign the compromise into law was its approval by the two chambers of Congress.

Administration leaders, who had barely snatched the bill's public housing feature from defeat in the House, were jubilant over the prospect of seeing it finally enacted.

"The courageous leadership of President Truman is shown by the passage of this housing bill," said House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass). "One thing the American people can rely upon is the word of the president that he will keep his campaign promises."

Budget Asks $818,529

City's Request Up $227,972

A general fund budget of $818,529 for the operation of city departments in 1950 was approved by city council last night and will be submitted to the county budget commission.

The 1950 budget approved last night requests $227,972 more than was appropriated for the operation of the city departments this year.

Council action on the budget was temporarily halted when City Auditor Paul J. Kelley pointed out no provision was made for payment of the general fund bonded indebtedness.

However, the indebtedness which will amount to $19,725 in 1950, was added to the budget and council renewed its action.

The budget as approved is within $7,275 of the 1949 request which was the largest in the history of the city.

However, the $825,804 budget approved by council last year was reduced to $590,557 by the county budget commission.

One of the big boosts over the 1949 appropriation is the fire department's request for $230,000, some $85,800 more than the department received this year.

The additional funds are for the construction of a new fire station and the purchase of an aerial truck.

A request for $100,000 for new storm sewers raises the proposed budget $80,000 over the 1949 appropriation.

Most other departments are requesting more funds for operation in 1950.

Violence Hits Japan

Guns Blaze As Reds, Police Clash

TOKYO — (INS) — Japan's mounting labor troubles erupted today into a gun battle between police and leftist demonstrators in which three persons were wounded seriously and 13 arrested at Takahagi.

The clash occurred as Japanese rural police announced receipt by Premier Shigeru Yoshida of an anonymous threat to assassinate the whole cabinet, all police chiefs and the president of the national railway system.

The latter official, Sandaroni Shimoyama, met violent death Tuesday — one day after the treatening letter was received. The Tokyo prosecutor's office declared it has been definitely determined that Shimoyama was assissinated by means of a fatal beating.

The outbreak at Takahagi in Ibaragi prefecture (province) began last night and continued until this morning. It started when police moved in to break up an unauthorized "people's rally" by a crowd of coal miners and Korean residents of Japan.

The miners and Koreans obtained 300 reinforcements and fought with the police, attempting to liberate the 13 arrested demonstrators.

DEFENSE TAKES OVER

ATHENS — (AP) The defense started its testimony today in the first degree murder trial of Harry Dodds jr.

YOUNG HARVESTER — Thomas Lewis, 11, knows from experience that the sizzling July sun calls for head protection. So he keeps his straw 'derby' firmly fastened in place while pursuing his harvesting chore. This consists of sitting at ease on the binder, which is temporarily idle because of delay in harvesting operations due to rain. The picture was taken on the W. N. McKee farm on State Route 13, south of Mansfield.

Heavy Showers Drench Mansfield

Rain Cools City's Perspiring Brow

Mansfielders got a brief respite from the worst heat wave of the year last night when rain drenched the city.

In addition to dropping the temperature to a low of 70 degrees, the rain was a boon to the corn and oats crops in this area, County Agent C. N. McGrew said.

Meanwhile, a United Press survey showed that 411 persons sunstroke or heat-induced heart attacks and 295 drowned while seeking relief at the beaches.

In Ohio 14 more victims were added to the death toll within the past 24 hours as the heat wave blazed into its 10th consecutive day.

Nine deaths yesterday in Cleveland, four in Cincinnati and another in Lorain were blamed on the heat, despite general showers which covered almost the entire state.

Scattered showers and slightly cooler weather was the forecast for this afternoon and tomorrow, but there was no cool weather in sight today.

UP TO 94 DEGREES

Before the heavy rain yesterday, the mercury climbed to an unofficial 94, only one degree under the high of Tuesday. It was 90 officially at the airport.

Rain fell during most of the later afternoon, but at 5:30 p. m., a veritable deluge struck the city. Total rainfall recorded at the airport was .56 of an inch.

Lightning struck the chimney at the Mrs. R. B. DeWitt home, 199 Hefen avenue, at 5:45 p.m. Falling bricks damaged the roof, but there was no fire, firemen said.

However, the heat wave is bringing a few lighter touches.

At Indianapolis, iceman Lester Tallaferro's horse showed the good sense horses are noted for. Weary of hauling tons of ice to cool humans, the animal walked into a canal, pulling the wagon after him. Tallaferro had to unhitch the wagon to get the horse out of the cool water.

Reveal Crisis, Get Sympathy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Great Britain seemed likely today to get American sympathy — and not much else — in her newest financial plight.

Members of Congress generally reacted cooly to the announcement that Britain is down to her last $1,642,000,000 in gold and dollars. Their general observation was that the problem is one the British will have to solve for themselves without increased U. S. financial aid.

In diplomatic circles, Secretary of State Acheson displayed a tendency to discount the British situation somewhat.

He said that, like an indiviual whose income drops, Britain was cutting her purchases. He added this was an unfortunate temporary necessity, however, and not a permanent solution.

Mindszenty Faces Death

Prosecutor Demands 'Hard' Punishment

BUDAPEST — (INS) — Communist Hungary's general prosecutor today demanded the death sentence for Josef Cardinal Mindszenty now serving a life term for alleged treason, espionage, and black market activities.

The demand for "harder" punishment than the life prison term already given the Hungarian primate was made at the hearing on the primate's appeal from the sentence meted out by a "peoples' court" in Budapest Feb. 8.

The Roman Catholic prelate's lawyer at the same time urged a lighter sentence on the grounds that his activity had not been a conspiracy against democracy.

The formal arguments were offered yesterday but not made public until today. Budapest newspapers did not print the story.

Under Hungarian law the appeal court may raise or lower the sentences imposed by lesser courts.

Neither defense nor prosecution can introduce new evidence at the appeals hearings which are based entirely on documents submitted at the original trial.

Rain Delays Grain Harvest

Mill operators here today cautioned Richland county farmers not to start combining their wheat too soon after yesterday's heavy rains.

Wheat which tests more than 14 per cent moisture is not salable, farmers were warned. Prior to yesterday's rain wheat from this area was testing 11 to 14 per cent moisture with the average about 12 per cent.

Farmers were advised to have moisture tests made before they start combining. They can have tests run without charge at the Lantz Mills, 25 East Fifth street, or by Farm Bureau branches in the county.

Coal Talks Open

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) The United Mine Workers board of strategy and the nation's anthracite operators open contract negotiations today with the controversial three-day work week a highly possible issue.

N. Lake Pool Closed

The city closed its recently-acquired swimming pool at North Lake Park at noon today for an indefinite period.

"We have been having trouble with the filter plant at the pool, and yesterday the pump that forces the water into the filter plant started giving us trouble," Park Supt. Frank Burton said.

The pool will be closed to all public swimming until the trouble is corrected, Burton said.

However, the Red Cross will be permitted to use the pool for an hour in the mornings for its swimming lessons, Burton said.

City council on June 1 approved an ordinance giving the city a one-year lease on the old Casino swimming pool. A benefactor leased the pool to the city for one dollar a year.

Since that time there has been some criticism of the way the pool has been operated.

It was learned a delegation from the North Lake Park area met with the park commission a few days ago to discuss the operation of the pool.

Park officials are planning a meeting with various interested groups in the city in an attempt to work out a satisfactory plan of operation, it was reported today.

The swimming pool was privately operated for a number of years. It is between two parcels of city-owned land in the North Lake area.

Cruise Fills Vaughan With Fight Spirit

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, was back in town today in fine fighting trim.

Refreshed after a quiet, three-week cruise to Guatemala, the 200-pound general threatened to punch one persistent photographer in the nose, and started to square off with a reporter who asked him who had paid for the trip.

He roared that he himself had footed the bill.

"How would you like a punch in the nose?" Vaughan bellowed, moving in the direction of photographer Gene Jones of the Washington Post. "No more pictures, I said."

"General," replied Jones, "you can be sure there will be one more picture and I'll take it."

Dulles Given Senate Seat

NEW YORK — (UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today appointed John Foster Dulles as interim senator from New York until Dec. 1.

Dulles, Republican foreign policy expert, will fill the Senate seat left vacant by the resignation of Robert F. Wagner, Democrat.

A special election will be held Nov. 8 to choose a senator to fill the remainder of Wagner's unexpired term. Wagner resigned because of illness.

Dewey, in announcing the appointment, said he thought it unlikely that Dulles would be a candidate for the office in November.

Phones, Drunks Draw Attention

COLUMBUS (AP) — "Party lines" with too many phones and drunks who can't quit liquor get Senate attention today.

One proposal seeks a limit of ten phones to a party line. It is aimed principally at rural and suburban phone companies. Backers claim some party lines have 16 or more phones.

The other measure proposes creation of a nine-member commission to plan help for chronic alcoholics. The group would study feasibility of treating patients in state institutions. The commission would report its recommendations by Jan. 1, 1951.

High Fee Demands Opposed

Protest Voted Unanimously

Mansfield councilmen last night took a firm stand against "any increase in telephone rates as applied for by the Mansfield Telephone company."

The resolution voicing council's vigorous opposition to rate increase proposed by the company was unanimously adopted by the council members.

The sharply-worded resolution favored at the council meeting last night without a dissenting vote asks City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch to prepare a report for the council utilities committee covering the necessary legal or technical assistance needed to file a formal protest to the telephone company's application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The approximate cost of such aid will be included in the city solicitor's report.

This section of the resolution puts into the record the question of hiring a rate expert for the city in order to make a study of the telephone company's application.

The resolution states "this council opposes any increase in telephone rates as applied for by the Mansfield Telephone company in its application to the Public Utilities commission."

The telephone company's application is now under study by the PUCO's engineering and accounting departments.

At the completion of this study the commission secretary will file a written report to the PUCO containing its findings and a summary of the application.

WILL MAIL REPORT

A copy of the secretary's report, as provided for by law, will be mailed to the mayor of Mansfield, and to the prosecuting attorney of Richland county, Harry M. Miller, chairman of the PUCO stated.

After the completion of the secretary's report, the city, or any other interested party, has 30 days to file a formal protest with the commission, PUCO officials stated.

Date for an open public hearing will then be set, at which both the telephone company and persons protesting the application will be heard, Miller stated.

A PUCO official stated the commission's study of the application might require as long as six months.

The application for a general rate increase was filed with the PUCO by the telephone company on June 6.

The company seeks to add $136,623 to its annual revenue through the proposed rates increase, according to its application to the PUCO.

Under the application single and four-party line residence telephones would be boosted 50 cents a month. The eight-party line phones would be increased 25 cents a month.

Business establishments would be assessed increases ranging from $1.75 to $2 a month, depending on the type of service they have.

Rates on rural residence and business phones would also be increased.

Pegler Flays Labor Unions

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Columnist Westbrook Pegler charged today that "despots, criminals, and communists" have taken control of American labor unions from the rank and file members.

"This situation did not come about by chance," Pegler told a house labor subcommittee. He appeared as a principal witness in the subcommittee's investigation of "undemocratic" trade unions practices.

In a prepared statement, Pegler said that "lever labor lawyers," have connived at keeping rank and file members from controlling labor organizations. He said they have done this by placing "the necessary provisions" in union constitutions.

Child Strangled

CHICAGO — (INS) — A three-year-old boy, Thomas Laux, was found in a barracks bag in the basement of his home today and police said he had been strangled to death by a sex criminal.

Plymouth Man Pays Tribute to 'Best Gal'

"There's only one woman I want to be photographed with . . . my wife."

That courteous refusal to pose with an airline hostess at London airport was made by 89-year-old Dr. George Searle, ex-mayor of Plymouth, O.

The Ohioan had flown to England with his wife to receive the Honor of the Freedom of Plymouth, Devon.

Newspapermen and photographers were somewhat abashed at this touch of old world chivalry from the new world. The couple then posed smilingly together and were cheered by onlookers when they revealed they had just celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary.

Dr. Searle was born near Buckingham Palace, the king of England's London home. He came to New England in the United States when he was eight years old. He graduated from a medical college near Boston and practiced in Massachusetts until coming to Plymouth nearly 60 years ago.

The Searle home in Plymouth attracted nation-wide attention on June 8, 1941, when his daughter, Eleanor, married Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney in the Ohio village. A son, Dr. G. J. Searle, practices medicine and resides in Mansfield.

The touring Searles left on June 27 for a month's visit in England.

They flew over in a Pan American Strato-Cruiser on its initial voyage and landed on June 28, their 45th wedding anniversary date.

Dr. Searle resides in Bradenton, Fla., for nine months of the year but still maintains his Plymouth home and returns there the remainder of the year.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Friday, July 8

Hasty rash and intemperate decisions or conduct could have an adverse effect on major objectives of most constructive and creative promise. Bad judgment, indecision, mental or emotional obscurity, could work for failure, tangled issues or disagreeable complications, strife, slander or dangers from over-acting, rash adventures or wild impulses. Use reason rather than turbulent feelings or reckless impulses. Business involvements could react in home or other personal misfortunes.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be disposed to rash, impetuous and ungoverned conduct, with an attempt to hammer difficult situations or lagging prospects into shape by main force or by intemperate smashing through obstructions or opposition by passion and excitement and personal inner restraints rather than studied judgment. Egotism, daring, reckless adventure, could have very unhappy and disruptive effect on domestic, personal and professional contacts. Reactions on health could be unhappy with regrettable incentive to over-indulgences and wild extravagances. Keep firm grip on the mind, emotions and impulses, lest disastrous consequences follow.

A child born on this day, may be hasty, excitable and intemperate, dominated by its feelings, emotions and impulses, with mind and judgment carried to regrettable extremes or disaster.

Cleveland Winning Streak Halted at 5 Games

Collision Accounts For 3 Chicago Runs

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians' winning streak was shattered yesterday, but they had strong consolation.

Their "boy" manager, Lou Boudreau, was looking more and more like the player who led the American league batting race for a period last year.

Although the tribe dropped a 9 to 6 verdict to the Chicago White Sox last night, Boudreau's performance was cheering. It marked the first time this season he had three hits in one game.

And each blow led to a run. His single in the second scored Larry Doby from second base. He doubled in the fourth and later scored, and he singled in the tribe's four-run rally in the eighth.

The three safeties in four trips to the plate brought his batting average up to .272, the fourth highest among the team's regulars. A week ago it was .232.

The loss snapped the Indians' winning streak at five and dropped them a half game further behind first-place New York. Rained out last night, the Yankees now have a lead of six and a half games over the third-place Indians.

So far this season, Cleveland hasn't won a single game in Chicago.

The latest jinx came in the form of a collision between two Indian players with the score tied 6 to 6 in the eighth. It resulted in three Chicago players scrambling across the plate.

The accident occurred with the bases loaded. Steve Souchok, White Sox outfielder who hadn't gotten a hit up until that point, popped a fly about 25 yards behind first base and near the foul line.

CHASE AFTER BALL

Joe Gordon, Bob Kennedy and Mickey Vernon went chasing after the ball. Gordon and Kennedy got under it and then collided as the ball hit the latter's glove and popped out. Luke Appling, Cass Michaels and Chuck Kress easily scored.

Earlier in the inning, Cleveland had sent four men home to tie up the count.

Vernon opened with a single, Larry Doby doubled him to third and he scored on a fly by Gordon. After Boudreau and Kennedy singled to fill the bases, Gene Bearden's single sent Doby and Boudreau home. Another one-bagger by Dale Mitchell pushed Kennedy over for the tying run.

The tribe used six pitchers—Steve Gromek, Mike Garcia, Sam Zoldak, Al Benton, Bearden and Satchel Paige. Paige was the loser.

British Golf Writers Don't Like Ruling

LONDON — British golf writers said today it was tough luck for Sgt. Charles Rotar of the U. S. Army to be ruled out of the British open golf championship after qualifying — but a rule is a rule.

Some of them complained, however, that the tournament committee should have examined the competitors' clubs in advance to make sure each set was within the law.

Instead, Rotar played 36 holes with an illegal putter, posted a good 74-76, and didn't learn until two hours later that he had been barred from the championship starting at Sandwich today.

"Why no early objection?" was the headline on the evening Standard's account of the affair. "Rotar's putter is of a gooseneck type," said the Standard's expert, James Goodfellow. "I saw it and had no doubt that it did not meet the traditional and accepted form of golf clubs. But it was not a glaring transgression."

"No one questions Rotar's sportsmanship and it is hoped he comes next year," Goodfellow wrote.

Rotar, a Canton, Ohio, professional in civilian life, is stationed at Frankfurt, Germany, where he is in charge of the allied occupation forces' golf course.

Desmond Hackett of the Daily Express noted that Rotar had used the putter during a week of practice and qualifying play without hearing any official complaint. Hackett quoted an unnamed British pro as saying:

"It is time the royal and ancient took proper precautions to make sure this sort of thing cannot happen. All clubs should be examined before a player starts.

The Daily Mail's Fred Pignon contended that "Rotar had no cause for complaint."

"The competitors' programs show that players using clubs which do not conform to the specifications 'will be disqualified' and their attention is drawn to the rules," Pignon wrote.

Leonard Crawley of the Daily Telegraph said it seems "a pity" that the royal and ancient, which is Britain's supreme arbiter of golf, and the U. S. golf association "cannot see eye to eye" over the use of such putters.

"There can be no conceivable advantage in such a club, he said, "otherwise it would be used by all the best American players."

Snead Leads Money Battle

READING, PA. — (UP) — More than 150 golfers teed off today for the Reading open, another round in the continuing money battle between Slammin' Sammy Snead and Dr. Cary Middlecoff.

Hillbilly Snead, with the PGA and the PGA and the Augusta Masters titles already dangling from his belt, won the Washington Star open Monday to bring his earnings for the year to $16,460. This put him a scant $311 ahead of Middlecoff, the molars mender from Memphis who finished second to Snead to boost his total to $16,149.

Snead and Middlecoff, the U. S. Open king, were the favorites to capture the 72-hole joust over the par-70 Reading Country club course.

Pumpers Battle Ashland Tonight

Gorman - Rupp is to make another attempt to dodge raindrops tonight when it is to be host to Ashland Garber Printing at 8:30 p. m. The Pumpers were to have hosted Marion Smitty's Grill last night but were rained out.

Tonight's game — announced only yesterday — will round out the Pumpers activity for the week. Their next game will be Sunday night at Shelby. Four other games are on their slate next week.

Association Race In Two-Way Tie

By the Associated Press

Froilan Fernandez, the infielder-outfielder known to fans as Nanny, who was traded by St. Paul to Indianapolis earlier this season, returned to the home of the Saints and slashed an eight-inning home run last night to give the Indians a 6 to 5 triumph over his former employers.

Nanny's blow put Indianapolis back into a first place tie with St. Paul for the American association leadership. He scored two of his team's six runs.

Blind Golfers Fire Away In Unique Links Tourney

By TOM BRISLIN

NORRISTOWN, Pa. —(INS)— Tomorrow 20 game guys, every one of them totally blind, will tee off in golfdom's most unique tournament.

The sightless linksmen will battle for the title of national blind golf champion.

Entered are totally blind golfers from the east, the mid-west, Texas, California and Canada.

Among them are defending National Champion Clinton F. Russell, 54-year-old retired Duluth, Minn. businessman, and former All-American halfback Charley Boswell of Alabama, blinded during the battle of the Bulge.

Russel, who is also international champion, originated the links game for the blind golfers after losing his sight when he was 40.

He will be the favorite and confidently predicts he'll fire the 36 holes of medal play in about 190 to retain his crown. Russell copped the 1948 title with scores of 102 and 98, but frequently has shot in the low nineties.

Bob Alman, Philadelphia lawyer, radio sports commentator and ex-intercollegiate wrestling champion at the University of Pennsylvania, is hopeful of wrestling the crown from Russell.

Allman, blind since the age of four, is the east's big hope to defeat the Minnesotan.

Russell also can expect stiff competition from Dr. William H. J. Oxenham, Toronto osteopath and dominion blind golfers' champion the past two years.

Dr. Oxenham, a native of England, lost his sight on the Somme in World War I and was the first blind war veteran to take up the links game without having played prior to his handicap.

Also likely to press Russell hard in this tournament literally played "by ear" are Bill Gillman, of Portland, Me., who astounded spectators at last year's Detroit tourney by dropping a 34-foot putt.

Big, strapping Chuck Boswell is sure to be up there, of course. The courageous ex-Alabama grid star, who played in the Rose Bowl in 1940, has been diligently practicing "in the dark" and constitutes a real threat to Russell.

All these sightless linksmen swing in normal fashion once their feet are lined up by the caddy. Only one concession is granted them in the rules—they can ground the club in a sand trap.

The caddy, by voice and by rattling the pin, helps the blind contestants in their pitch shots and putts. They merely clip to the voice or putt to the rattle. And the sinking of 20-foot putts is not uncommon.

Jimmy Adams Holds Slight Golfing Lead

SANDWICH, Eng., — (UP) — Scotsman Jimmy Adams, the "bridesmaid" of British golf, held a slim lead in the British Open Golf tournament today, but the wolves were snapping at his heels at the start of the second round of play.

The husky, red-faced Adams, who makes a habit out of finishing second in big tourneys, showed the way through the first round with a five-under-par 67.

As they swing into the second tour over the Royal St. Georges course, Robert De Vicenzo of Argentia and medalist Harry Bradshaw of Ireland were one stroke behind Adams. At 69 was Bobby Locke of South Africa, the tournament favorite.

Close up at 71 were the United States' chief threats — Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., and amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O.

Willie Hunter, of Riviera, Cal., the third American to qualify, was far back in the field of 96 with a three-over-par 75, and apparently out of contention.

Medalist Bradshaw looked like he would continue to dominate play when he shot a 31 on the first nine, but he slumped to 37 coming in.

STILL FAVORITE

Locke, whom the bookies are still quoting at 7 to 2 to win the title that he wants most, could blame one bad hole for the fact that he wasn't leading. Taking dead aim on the course record of 65 held by Henry Cotton, the South African ace was doing well until the 14th hole. There he walloped his drive out of bounds for two strokes, drove off again, made a poor pitch shot, and wound up with a seven.

Fielder Gets Hot to Break Up Ball Game

When Elmhurst junior high hit a homerun ball out Norman's way with the bases loaded, he started to run. As he ran the friction lighted matches and firecrackers in his right hip pocket. As he frantically fanned his own personal right field, the Elmhurst players collapsed on their bases with laughter, scoring nary a run.

The game was called on a technicality.

Sulphur Springs Still Hunts Coach

BUCYRUS — Sulphur Springs school, east of here, still is without a coach, Supt. Tom Thatcher announced today.

William C. Butler, a 1949 graduate of Capital university in Columbus, informed Supt. Thatcher Wednesday that he will be unable to accept the post. He plans to teach in Dayton.

In addition to coaching the school's athletic teams, the applicant must also instruct social science and mathematics classes.

Big Walker Cooper Gets 6 Hits In Row

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

All Walker Cooper needed was a change of scenery—or was it a change of managers?

Big Coop, who popped off publicly about his trials with the New York Giants under Leo Durocher, sounded off with his bat yesterday for his new boss—Bucky Walters—at Cincinnati.

Six straight base hits, including three three-run homers, added up to a big 10 runs batted in for the ex-Giant who went to Cincy on June 14.

The big fellow who cost Horace Stoneham $175,000 in January of 1946 had the biggest day of his long career against the Chicago Cubs yesterday afternoon. It was also the biggest day for the Reds in many a day as they rolled up a 23-4 landslide for Ken Raffensberger's ninth victory.

Cooper had a chance to tie Uncle Wilbert Robinson's all-time record of seven consecutive hits when he came up in the eighth inning. He grounded into a force play, breaking the string.

In the third, sixth and seventh innings, Cooper hammered home runs, each time with two men on base.

The heavy firing in Cincy overshadowed the pennant race which almost—but not quite—resulted in a first place tie. Brooklyn's one-game lead was cut in half when the Dodgers lost to the Boston Braves, 7-5, but the runnerup St. Louis Cards blew a 3-1 lead in the last of the ninth and bowed to Pittsburgh, 4-3. As a result the Brooks still lead by a full game.

Tommy Holmes sank the Dodgers with his third homer in the last three days. It came in the eighth with Jim Russell on base.

PIRATES STILL HOT

Johnny Hopp was the hero of the Pirates' ninth-inning rally against the Cards. His single with the bases loaded scored two runs for Pittsburgh's fifth straight victory.

Rain washed out Philadelphia-New York games in both the National and American.

Both Cleveland and Detroit lost ground in the race by dropping night games but the Boston Red Sox puiled up over the .500 mark by shutting out Washington, 5-0, in a game called in the sixth due to rain.

Steve Souchock's double with the bases loaded in the eighth gave the Chicago White Sox a 9-6 edge over Cleveland, snapping the Indians' five-game win streak.

The St. Louis Browns outlasted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5 in 13 innings, when Gerry Priddy singled home Tom Ferrick with the tie-breaking run. The Tigers moved out front in the 12th but Jack Graham's second homer of the night and 13th of the year, knotted the score again.

Shaker Picks New Mentor

CLEVELAND — (INS) — James F. Halderman, ex-Ohio University football star, will take over as head football coach and assistant basketball and baseball mentor at Cleveland's Shaker Heights high school Aug. 20.

Halderman, 29, has been coaching only three seasons but his teams have hung up impressive records.

His Gallia academy high school grid teams from Gallipolis won 19 straight games and two southeast Ohio league titles and his basketball and baseball squads shared the circuit championships with Athens last year.

Halderman replaces Art Breitenstein who resigned to accept an assistant's post at the University of Miami, Fla.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Walker Cooper, Reds, drove in 10 runs with three homers and three singles in Cincinnati's 23-4 rout of Chicago.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Pirates, turned back old mates with fine eight-inning relief job as Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis from moving into first place tie.

Judge Fines 14 Drivers $250 Total

2 Penalized For Improper Licenses

Fourteen persons were fined a total of $250 and costs when they appeared in two municipal court sessions yesterday for various traffic violations

Turley W. Kelley, of Lexington, R. D. 1, and James H. Kelley jr., of 270 East Second street, were fined $50 and costs each for operating motor vehicles with licenses issued to another car.

However, Municipal Judge H H Schettler remitted $40 of Turley Kelley's fine, and remitted $45 of James Kelley's fine

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Danville Tackett, of Mansfield, R. D 2, when he failed to appear in court on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign. He also was charged with operating a car without an Ohio license, and forfeited $25 bond when he failed to appear on that charge.

Five persons were fined $10 and costs on charges of speeding They were Harold E Funk, of Jeromesville, R D 2, Thomas Arter, of Crestline, R D 1, Bruce K. Walker, of West Salem, Donald R. Burkholder, of 139 Rowland avenue, and Robert F Catlett, of 1958 Springmill street

Found guilty to charge of leaving the scene after an accident Hugh H. Hout, of Mansfield, R. D. 2, was fined $50 and his drivers license was suspended for six months. Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler granted Hout the right to drive to and from work.

The arrest was made by state highway patrolmen after Hout's car collided with another driven by William H White, of Cleveland, on U S Route 42 The accident occurred on June 20

Norma Jean Fletcher, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, and Cleo Bennett, of 376 Bennett avenue, were fined $5 and costs each for operating a motor vehicle on temporary permits, unaccompanied by licensed drivers

Grover Hale, of Mansfield, R D 1, pleaded innocent to charges of failing to register a car and making an improper left turn The hearing was continued to July 19

Base Case On Insanity Plea

ATHENS — (INS) — Defense attorneys for Harry Dodds jr, charged with the Jan 3 robbery-slaying of an Athens church worker, today were expected to base their case on testimony that the youth and his parents were insane

Dodds' attorneys were granted a brief recess yesterday after the state rested its case with a statement was given in a Columbus hospital by Roy Arnold, the youth's uncle

The recess was reportedly asked by the attorneys to give the time to gather evidence to prove that Dodds was an "unwanted child" and beaten by his parents.

Scouts' New Swimming Pool To Be Ready Sunday

By ROBERT BUSH

Boy Scout Camp Avery Hand will open Sunday with a new feature, a 75-by-36-foot swimming pool, fully approved by the board of health

The pool was built by money raised in 1944 and is part of a memorial to Mansfield area Scouts in the war. The pool was designed by Architect H. S. Jones, constructed by Contractor J. H. Glasener, and the plumbing was done by the Mansfield Plumbing company. Jerry Dennis will be in charge of the pool.

Thirty-five Scouts will attend the first of four one-week periods The program will include such activities as campfires with stunts stories, ceremonies, and songs

Field Executive Carl Bachmann will be in charge of the activities and will be assisted by Charles Young and Richard Allyn

Ray Stretch will supervise the commissary He will be aided by Charles Dent Fred Marshall and John Robbins will help with the dining room

The rifle range again will be available for boys interested in marksmanship Other activities which may help in winning rank advancement and Merit badges are overnight hikes handicraft nature, lifesaving, Scout skills and instruction

A canteen is to be open twice a day for the purchase of candy with some handicraft articles for sale. Stamps and cards will be available there.

For boys registering for camp, a physical examination is requested Competent first aid men will be in camp and a physician will be on call in case of accidents

There are still a few openings for registration in the later periods, but the number must be kept at 35 due to the limitations of the dining hall, Scout officials said

Participate In Show

Members of the Richland County Bit and Spur Riding club and the Mansfield Western Star Riding club are expected to participate in the fifth annual Bath horse show at Thompson's Hill Top farm, Bath near Akron July 17

More than 100 entries are expected in the afternoon and evening shows. Trophies will be awarded to winners in all classes and ribbons to second, third, and fourth place riders.

The afternoon program for 11 classes will begin at 1 30 p m The classes include jumping at two different heights, two pony classes English saddle horse riding, and children's horsemanship class There also will be a special exhibition of hackney driving

The evening program will begin at 7 p m and will include such events as western riding, musical chairs, and the palomino class

Anyone wishing to ride his own horse in the show may obtain an entry blank by contacting Mrs Jean Gladwin Richfield

The annual show is sponsored by the Bath Volunteer fire department and the Summit County Horsemen's association. Proceeds will go into a fund for a permanent fire house in Bath

The Yale university swimming team successfully retained its eastern intercollegiate swimming league championship this year

Venereal Disease Seen As Plague

Dr. Wain Calls It Major Threat

Venereal disease was called an "unconquered plague that leads the list of all infectious diseases" by Health Commissioner Harry Wain in citing the prevalence of venereal disease in Mansfield and the nation.

"Statistics indicate that nearly 3,500,000 Americans have syphilis," Dr. Wain said, "and 1,500,000 new cases were reported in 1948."

"It is evident from the statistics that every thinking person should be concerned about the problem of venereal disease he added

The Mansfield-Richland county department of health is participating in an intensive campaign of education on venereal disease being conducted throughout the state by the Ohio Department of Health and local health departments

Richland county ranks sixth highest in the state in the number of early syphilis cases reported in 1948, Dr Wain said

There were 162 new cases reported in 1948 he added as compared with 59 cases of tuberculosis It leads the list of serious infectious diseases

The efficiency of reporting cases of venereal disease is a factor in Richland county's high ranking in the state figures, Dr Wain said.

In some other communities which have no health departments, venereal disease goes unreported

Health Officials Declare No Beaches On 'Ban' List

CLEVELAND — (AP) — County health official said yesterday the city of Cleveland and some of its suburbs have complained that the water at their Lake Erie bathing beaches is polluted

A F MacLaren, Deputy health commissioner for Cuyahoga county, said however, that none of the public beaches in the county had banned swimming

Cleveland's health department contends the water along the shore has a high bacterial count because of sewage problems The city's recreation department ignored this report however and kept open its four municipally operated beaches Recreation officials said people would use the beaches anyway, and it was necessary to provide the usual lifeguards

MacLaren said all communities on built up land such as Cleveland are "in the same boat"

He said there was "no definite yardstick" for determining if beach water is safe for swimming, despite germ counts and other checks

"The danger of drowning is much more imminent than the danger of getting an acute and infectious disease while swimming," he added

In an adjoining county Dr Marion Fisher, county health commissioner, said, "There are no bans (on Lake Erie Swimming) existing in Lorain county"

"No beaches are closed," he said and the situation is no different as regards swimming this summer as it was last summer"

Borers Invade Midwest Corn

CHICAGO — (INS) — European corn borer infestation in the midwest is the heaviest in history and one expert predicted today that corn crop losses might exceed 100 million bushels.

Crop experts said the deadly pest which has been moving steadily westward from the eastern seaboard this year reached Iowa and southern Minnesota in dangerous strength

Herman Aaberg, of the American Farm Bureau federation said the corn destroying pest has blanketed all of the eastern half of the corn belt up to the Missouri river

Assure Public That Curves To Be Seen

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Universal - International studio today wrote a "cheesecake clause" into its movie contracts to make sure starlets show off their curves in publicity pictures.

The clause requires that a suitably endowed feminine newcomer "shall for the first five years of the duration of her contract display said charms in publicity pictures as well as on the screen"

EVERY TIME PAUL DRUMM STEPS ON THE PEDAL, 24 BOTTLES DROP INTO A CASE AND THEY'RE ON THEIR WAY TO PEOPLE WHO APPRECIATE GOOD BEER.

Drumm drops 24 bottles at a time

From this point at the case packer, Paul Drumm has seen Burkhardt's start in all directions to meet its thousands of customers at every point of the compass.

The beer has come from the aging cellars and the bottles from the soakers, to meet at the filler and crowner. Then it came through the long pasteurizer—to this case packer so Paul can put them together in a package He does it far easier than when cases were loaded by hand.

You'd be interested to watch how the bottles come in single file to the little gadget which starts them into a double line Then each double line separates so the bottles move in a column of four

When the four lines run up against the front of the case packer, Paul has an empty case right under them He steps on a pedal—and two dozen bottles are dropped to be guided into place by long metal fingers And of course, it takes less time to do all this than to tell it.

He gives the full case a shove to his left and it starts down a roller conveyor on its way to a truck down in the yard.

The bottle shop has changed a lot since Paul joined us. He came with us since he was discharged from the Army nearly three years ago. In that time he has watched the installation of an entire new bottling line in the bottle shop—new soaker, new filler and crowner, new pasteurizer, new labeler, new case packers—and new equipment to handle cans as well as bottles He's had experience with these machines, too.

Paul is an old Akronite. He graduated from Central High School and still lives near there with his folks For recreation, he plays a good game of baseball covering third base for a team in the Class A Industrial League. Between games, he takes his rod and line out to one of several favorite fishing spots nearby. So the Drumm family has a good fish dinner every once in a while.

We're proud to have men like Paul Drumm well acquainted with a number of important jobs in our bottle shop, to insure the proper handling of every single bottle of Burkhardt's.

We consider their experience and carefulness as an extra—added to superb ingredients – that helps to make Burkhardt's the beer so many people like best.

Claim Reds Stir Kurd Rebellion

Rifles Used As Treason 'Bait'

ISTANBUL, Turkey —(UP)— Russians are sending in agents to stir up activity for Kurdish rebellion and independence in eastern Turkey, it is reported here.

The reports come from reliable intelligence sources who have had recent contacts with the Kurdish tribes and confirm diplomatic advices reaching Washington.

The sources here said the Russian agents usually Kurds themselves, can infiltrate the Kurdish regions of eastern Turkey with comparative ease because it is "some of the wildest territory in the world."

They further said that such Russian agents are meeting with some success simply because they are appealing to one of the greatest weaknesses of the mountain Kurd: his fierce, possessive lov for a rifle.

Officials familiar with the region around Lake Van in Turkey Tebriz in Iran and the Azerbaijan section of Russia, say that to patrol the borders here successfully it "would require one soldier every three feet."

Kurdish mountain tribes know this area so well that they pay absolutely no attention to borders, border patrols or international regulations.

Migratory by nature and tradition many of the Kurbs move in entire tribal units across Russian Turkish, Iranian and Iraqui borders at will even under 1949 conditions, often taking their herds and flocks of sheep, cattle and horses with them.

Any attempt by a handful of border patrols to halt such pre ments would be suicide, for the Kurds are superb rifle marksmen as well as canny mountaineers.

It is often said that a Kurdish mountaineer loves his rifle more than his own children and it is this weakness the Russians agents exploit, for the Kurds have not been able to replace worn out rifles for years. They have got no guns from the Turks who on the contrary, have tried to tame the Kurds and make farmers out of them.

The Russians have thus trained agents from their own Kurdish tribes to send across those indefinable borders to stir up talk of a "Kurdish Republic," of independence and rebellion, using new rifles for bait.

The dream of a Kurdish republic has appealed to certain of the Kurdish tribesmen for years when they resented living under the rule of various governments and armies which have swept back and forth across their lands.

Most of the estimated 9,000,000 Kurds now live in the general area where the boundaries of Russia, Turkey, Iran and Iraq meet.

Kurdish experts here say that the Russians are operating on the theory that they themselves have little to fear from the Kurds, even if a potential rebellion might backfire and the Kurds start shooting at Russians.

Indochina Given Chance To Stem Red Advance

By MILTON MARMOR

SINGAPORE—Watchers from the estern world give Bao Dai's infant Vietnam regime in Indochina a fighting chance to stand before the drive of communism in Asia.

They look with hopeful, yet apprehensive eyes, on the efforts of the onetime boy emperor of Annam to carve out a government within the framework of the French union that can survive resurgent leftwing nationalism. There are many who say: As goes Indochina so eventually goes southeast Asia.

The Chinese communists are about ready to take all of China into their domain. Then they will be on the Tonkinese border of Indochina. Few believe Mao Tse-Tung's men will fail to lend a helping hand in supplies and men to the Viet Minh armies of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh, hero of Vietnamese resistance against the Japanese.

Even without the expected Chinese communists' boost to leftwing forces in Indochina, Bao Dai's task is a stupendous one.

Ho Chi Minh already controls most of the South China sea coastal strip in Indochina known as Vietnam — Tonkin in the north, Annam in the center and Cochin China in the south. Laos and Cambodia, the two inner provinces, are not considered militarily or economically important.

Ho Chi Minh controls most of Vietnam, except such larger cities as Saigon, Dalat, Hue, Hanoi and Haiphong. Frenchmen say sadly the French hold the cities by day and Ho Chi Minh by night. It is virtually suicidal to go any distance from a city without strong military escort.

Bao Dai's first and most important task is to convince his fellow Vietnamese that he is true head of a truly national government. It may be hard for him to offset the oft-repeated charge he is a French puppet.

The French, some western observers fear, were too late in their efforts to set up what appears to be a genuine Vietnam government, as contrasted to the previous Vietnam state of General Xuan. These onlookers say it is now a race against time and Mao Tse-Tung. They even set a six-month limit for the showdown.

The consequences of a Ho Chi Minh victory in Indochina are dire for western hopes in Siam, Malaya, Burma and even the Indonesian islands.

ORPHAN ANNIE

BUT THEY'VE CALLED OUT TH' ARMY--THEY'VE JUST MOVED IN AND GRABBED TH' WHOLE WORKS...
ER--THEY SAY IT'S BECAUSE OF THE QUESTION OF TAXES...
TAXES? HOW MUCH TAXES? IF WE OWE TAXES ON DOUGH WE FOUND, WELL, WE'LL PAY TH' TAXES... HOW MUCH?
THEY DON'T KNOW--THE LAWS ARE VERY VAGUE ON ANYTHING OF THIS KIND...
SO THEY JUST GRAB TH' WHOLE THING, EH?
WELL, NOT EXACTLY-- IT SEEMS A TAX LIEN IS INVOLVED...

Defense Concludes Hiss Trial Arguments

Jury To Be Instructed Late Today

Judge Refuses Dismissal Motion

NEW YORK — (INS) — The defense concluded its case yesterday at the Alger Hiss perjury trial.

The 31st and final defense witness was Maurice C. Flynn, a court reporter, who read to the jury a deposition taken from Mrs. Lewis Wickes of Chestertown, Md., swearing she rented an apartment to Hiss in the summer of 1936 and 1937.

Referring specifically to 1937 she could not recall whether Mr and Mrs Hiss had remained in Chestertown "every day" that summer.

The government has presented testimony designed to show that Mr. and Mrs. Hiss made a motor trip to Peterboro, N H, early in August 1937 with Mr. and Mrs Whittaker Chambers.

"The defense finally rests," announced attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker after the deposition had been read.

A total of 74 witnesses were called during the trial—43 for the prosecution, 31 for the defense

Seconds later, Stryker renewed a previous motion to have the case thrown out, but Judge Samuel H. Kaufman ruled:

"The motion is denied. The case will go to the jury."

He directed Stryker to prepare his final summation.

Judge Kaufman told the jury of ten men and two women that he will give them their instructions when they return from lunch this afternoon.

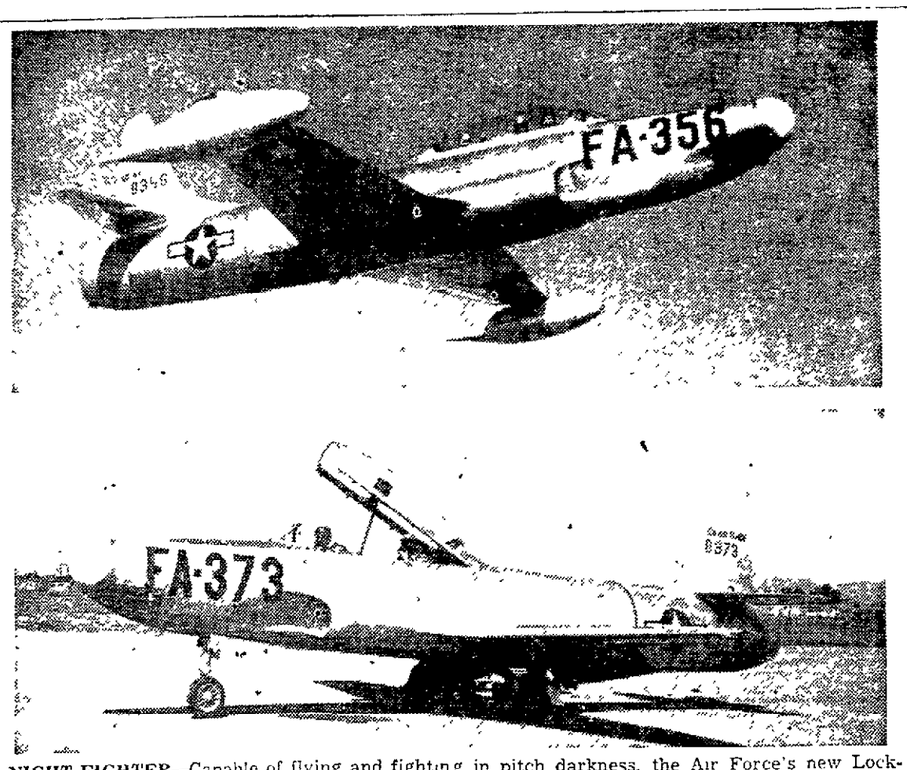
Hiss faces five years in prison and a $2,000 fine on each of two counts of perjury. He is charged with lying in his grand jury testimony that he did not see Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937 and that he never gave government secrets to Chambers.

One Arrested After 'Paint War' Erupts

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A 59 - year - old man was arrested by Cleveland detectives today in connection with the smearing of red paint on an east side home last night.

Det. Lieut. Peter J. Kekic said the man had red paint on his clothes and legs He added that the vandalism was based on a family feud between George Livaich, owner of the home, and the suspect.

Arches were built as early as 4,000 B C.



NIGHT FIGHTER—Capable of flying and fighting in pitch darkness, the Air Force's new Lockheed F-94 is a two-seat, radar-equipped 24-hour jet night fighter. The plane, designers say, can fly and fight under conditions of weather and visibility that would ground standard jet fighters. Here are two views of the F-94—in flight and on the ground.

Claims Lothario Was a Tailor

'Voice From Past' Blasts Aged Romeo

CHICAGO — (INS) — Another voice from the past hurled accusations at Sigmund Engel yesterday but the elderly "love pirate" denied that he ever married the woman and bilked her of $4,100.

Mrs. Hilma Spencer, 65, of Chicago picked the Lothario out of a showup line in the state's attorney's office and claimed Engel married her Oct 13, 1925. Later she said he disappeared with her money

Capt. Dan Gilbert directed that a comparison be made of Engel's handwriting and that of the man who married Mrs Spencer

She told Gilbert that her husband, Richard Spencer, died in 1924 Then, she continued, she met a "John Irving," who she believes is Engel, and married him five months later

"Irving," she contended, was employed as a tailor.

Mrs Spencer said at his request she handed him $4,100 which he said he needed to start a brokerage business. Five weeks after their marriage, she added, and three days after "Irving" received the money, he vanished. That was Nov. 29, 1925, she said

Engel's accuser told Gilbert she received a letter from the man stating he had lost the money in speculation and was ashamed to return That was the last Mrs. Spencer heard from him.

The "knave of hearts", who had his bond reduced from $50,000 to $30,000, protested that he had never seen Mrs. Spencer.

He appeared enraged that he had been accused of being a tailor and said he never had to work for a living.

The 74 - to - 80 - year - old Remeo retorted:

"Why, I can't even sew buttons on my own clothes."

Mrs Spencer cried out:

"That's the man all right, and he never sent me any flowers or candy."

U. S. Taking Huge Loss On Flax Deal

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The government offered today to take a loss of at least twelve million dollars to get rid of 1948 flaxseed purchased under its price support program.

The Agriculture department notified commercial flaxseed processors that it will sell all or part of the government's sixteen million bushels at about $5 25 per bushel The government paid more than ninety - six million dollars for the crop.

Post Reward In Attacks

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., — (UP) — A $1,100 price was placed yesterday on the head—dead or alive—of a phantom attacker with a nickel - plated revolver who reportedly has ravished at least 17 women in the vicinity of the University of Tennessee.

City council raised the reward money and ordered police details strengthened in the section where the attacks have occurred over a period of months.

Councilman George Dempster put $100 into the reward fund and sounded a call for capture of the culprit "dead or alive."

Dempster said Knoxville has returned "to the time of the vigilantes" He suggested that a curfew be imposed in the area.

Councilmen were told that at least five university coeds had been raped by the attacker.

The manhunt had been kept quite in its early stages of investigation. The city fathers apparently believed the situation had gotten so serious it was time to disclose the facts in the interest of public welfare.

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

According to that young gypsy fellow at Turtle Creek, business is going to be swell!
Last Friday us Wilkens hiked over to where a wagonload of gypsy folk had set up housekeeping. This young fellow claims a sort of wiggly line in my hand tells him we're headed for a spell of real good business. That's my brother-in-law Tom back of me taking it all in. My brother William and our dog Jessie appear like they're looking into the gypsy housing situation so to speak.

It's tasty as the day is long!
If you've got the notion there's not such much of a difference in the taste of whiskies- neighbor, I've got some mighty gladsome news for you! I'll go so far as to say Our Family's Recipe is so far and away the tastiest you ever put your lips to, you are going to bust out in a big grin of pleasure the second you take your first swallow
And you can easy figure how Our Family's Recipe come by all this tastiness when you go to tote up all the years Our Family has put in at distilling. First off take Grandpa He was a distiller away back in '86 And Pa Wilken—he started up in the year 1892. On top of all that the three of us have been everlastingly at it all our life you might say. And here in The Wilken Family Whiskey, you've got the exact same as us old-time distillers drink!
And here's just a little parting thought. Pa Wilken always told us never to be piggish about price And as you can see, we sure follow Pa's teachings.

Ohio House, Senate Deadlocked; Seek Adjournment Date

Financial Scrap Halts Activities

Point Towards Quitting July 15

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — State senators at odds with the House over finances want to quit work July 15 and take final adjournment July 27.

The Senate Rules committee inserted the dates in a House resolution proposing June 20 sine die adjournment. The House passed the resolution May 16 but it bogged down in a busy Senate. Both houses must agree on adjournment to make it stick. Their session now is in its 27th week.

A Senate-House fight over appropriations clouded adjournment prospects Here's what happened Wednesday:

Senators voted to appropriate $61,755,272 for July-August state expenses, including old age pensions.

The House quit work for the week without considering the emergency bill. Instead it passed and sent to the Senate a $5,700,000 measure for July pension payments. Senators rejected that and charged the House with "back alley politics."

Welfare Director John H Lamneck said checks for more than half Ohio's 125,000 old age pensioners will be delayed starting July 12. They are mailed daily in rotation each month. Money for them ran out June 30 No more will be available until an appropriation is enacted. That appears unlikely before next week.

Other major developments:

The Senate approved a $2,000,000 appropriation for the state to match local poor relief payments on which it fell behind the first half-year.

The House passed the administration's $99,000,000 capital improvements bill. Both measures require action by the opposite house.

Sen. Margaret A. Mahoney (D-Cuyahoga) asked passage of the pension appropriation bill. She is Senate Majority leader. Her attempt to win immediate consideration lost 18 to 11. Seven Democrats joined 11 Republicans against her.

The finance committee Wednesday night reported out the budget. It carries $646,872,744 to run the state two years. That's in addition to $2 000,000 for poor relief matching The committee forecast a $96,000 cushion if state revenues reach expectations

To get the budget figure, the committee lopped off $5.133,000 with a 3½ percent across-the-board cut of most free funds. Other items fixed by law weren't trimmed The committee had restored numerous House cuts.

Hints New Atomic Uses

Bacher Urges Less Timidity

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Dr. Robert F. Bacher said yesterday that "we stand on the threshold of a very great development" in use of atomic energy to drive ships and generate power

"If we are not timid in going ahead in this work," Bacher told the House - Senate Atomic Energy commission, "major successes will come to us."

Meanwhile, Bacher added, "Bomb production is in the best shape ever."

Bacher resigned as Atomic Energy commissioner last May to take charge of the physics department of the California Institute of Technology

He testified before congressional group as a witness for the defense against "incredible mismanagement" charges lodged by Sen. Bourke H. Hickenlooper, R. Ia.

Wants Clothes On Dancers, Not On Bars

CHICAGO — (INS) There's an "undercover" plot afoot today against Chicago's strippers, exotic dancers and "artistes" of the runway

It seems they've been undercovering too much and therein lies the tale.

Jack Irving, regional director of the American Guild of Variety Artists, warned Chicago's variety-steppers and strutters yesterday they've been taking off too many clothes

He admitted it was hot, but implied clothes still should be worn, not merely draped across a bar-top.

Repossessed Car Stripped

NEA Votes Against Reds As School Instructors

BOSTON — (INS) — The National Education association voted yesterday against allowing members of the communist party in the United States to teach in the nation's schools

The 3,000 delegates attending the 28th annual convention also voted to include in school curricula a course about totalitarianism, including communism.

Only a few "no's" followed the voice vote when President Mabel Studebaker, of Erie, Pa, asked who was opposed

The ban against communist teachers was included in a four-point report affirming.

1. Young citizens should have an opportunity to learn about the practices and principles of totalitarianism.

2. Teaching about communism does not mean advocacy of such doctrines. Such advocacy should not be permitted in American shools.

3 The schools should continue with vigor their programs of giving. . .a clear understanding of the principles of the American way of life.

4. Members of the communist party of the United States should not be employed as teachers.

The vote came after a spirited denunciation of communism by John K Norton of Columbia university.

He called communism an "evil system" which would "regulate according to a despotic ideology every phase of a citizen's life."

Mrs. Rose Russell, legislative agent of the CIO Teachers union of New York, said she did not oppose firing disloyal teachers, but she said she feared the phrasing of the report.

She declared action against communism might lead to "dismissals on other political grounds."

Mansfielders Seek Relief In Parks

Heat Gives Swim Pools Big Season

Mansfielders seeking relief from the heat are making this a great year for the city s swimming pools.

One of the most popular spots is the big pool in Liberty park which has been jammed with adults and youngsters daily since the heat wave began two weeks ago.

Paul Snyder, athletic coach during the winter and manager of the pool in the summer, said the pool is going to mark up a record year if the attendance continues at the present pace

During the past week an average of 500 swimmers a day have visited the bathing spot at the northeast edge of the city.

The past holiday week end was a record-breaker for the pool, with 900 swimmers paying admission Sunday. There were 800 Tuesday.

Except for a brief period in June, the weather has been hot since the pools opened the last of May. The swimming season will continue through Labor day.

The Liberty pool is open from 12 30 to 8 p m

The city this year added the North lake park pool which formerly was privately operated. It serves the west and north sides of the city although both pools draw from every part of Mansfield and the surrounding areas.

The two pools have lifeguards on duty which Red Cross officials point out is a big safety factor Most of the drownings, they explained, occur in rivers, gravel pits, and unprotected swimming spots.

U. S. Entomologist Claims Locust Horde Threatens West

RENO — (UP) — The gigantic horde of locusts sweeping 3,000 square miles of Neavada rangeland must be destroyed before next year or they will invade fertile California and Oregon croplands, a federal expert said today.

The locusts first appeared in 1938. Every year since, they have moved westward against the prevailing winds at two to six miles a day.

During the decade, they have moved 350 miles to a point where they now threaten the Pacific coast farmlands.

Federal entomologist W R Mabee said it was "absolutely essential" that the insect army, containing billions of locusts over an area 75 miles wide and 40 miles deep, be halted by next year.

However, Harry Gallaway of the Nevada state department of agriculture said it was "impossible" to destroy the horde at present

The only hope, he said, was to wait until the locusts lay their eggs and die off Then the eggs can be sprayed with toxacine and chlordane solutions to prevent them from maturing and starting a new plague next year.

Gallaway said it would be too costly to spra ythe insects now with chemicals. Even the cost of spraying the areas where they lay their eggs will not be known until crews now touring the area in jeeps complete their survey of the egg beds

He said "only time will tell" whether advance elements will invade California and Oregon this year At the moment, he said, such an invasion seems 'unlikely'

Nevada ranchers and farmers were not alarmed by the insects because the annual migration has been confined thus far to some of the most barren land in the west

The word "Bible" derives from Byblos, the name of the city which exported papyrus in ancient times.

Cripps Reports To Commons

IT IS NO criticism of working people that the British Labor government finds itself in the gloomy position outlined yesterday to the House of Commons by Sir Stafford Cripps. It is simply another evidence that, in the long run, all of us live by what we earn. We cannot forever work less and less and live better and better.

Essentially, the British Labor party promised all the people of Britain what the labor unions of the United States are seeking for their members today. To war-weary Britons it was a bright promise. But yesterday Sir Stafford racked up the facts beside the promises. The Labor Government has come down to earth.

Cripps put it bluntly. The British workers will have to stop getting wage increases. They will have to produce more.

This is not so because some economist says it. It is not so because the laboring man's own party has turned on him. It is true simply because any nation can eat and wear and enjoy only those things it produces. Or, as in the case of the British, the nation can have only what it can make or buy with the profits on what it makes and sells abroad.

The House of Commons heard talk of the drop in the Sterling reserve, talk about dollar contract commitments, and other economic jargon. But reduced to its essentials, Cripps' speech said: "We must get back to producing, if we are to live."

Such is the eventual end of all managed economies by which the people think that simply in juggling wealth there is an answer to all their woes.

Too great a concentration of wealth in a few hands is evil. Mismanagement and hoarding of wealth is even more evil. The worker is worthy of his hire and, through his pay, a share in the profits from his labor.

But nationalization of industry, subsidizing of the farmer, and limiting of production cannot achieve general welfare. As Britain has learned to her sorrow, wealth must be produced as well as distributed.

Making Up Their Own Rules

NEWEST PROBE of the Federal Communications commission, scheduled to start Monday, will be watched with interest by all persons concerned with preserving the American way of life. Tactics of the FCC bureaucrats in favoring such known red-tinged characters as Edward Lamb with a flock of radio station permits are already well-known.

Lamb was given a radio license for Mansfield (which he later dropped) despite clear evidence at hearings of the FCC of his red-leanings.

Less well-known, perhaps, are the facts behind Rep. Francis E. Walter's charges that the FCC operates by "dictum" in such a way that "neither a broadcaster nor his lawyer can tell what is banned or what is permitted." But here, precisely, is where the FCC threatens a fundamental of American justice.

Americans believe that there should not be one law for one man and another law for another man under identical circumstances. Yet this is precisely what bureaucrats are able to foist upon the public when they operate by making their own rules for each case.

Undoubtedly Rep. Walter has good grounds for his investigation.

End of the Earth

THE HAYDEN Planetarium in New York, where the operations of the planets and the stars are shown in remarkably clear and understandable displays, has worked out a new routine. It shows how the earth might be wiped out if one of five possible faults should occur in the solar system. Watchers at the first showing said it was realistic enough to suit them.

Astronomers who worked out the five possible ends of the earth are willing to go a step further and declare that the explosion of the sun, considered the most likely of the five possible events, could easily happen "within a few billion years." Well, that still leaves time to finish reading today's paper.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Reform Needed In Political Stymie

"APPARENTLY the voters elected the Democratic President last year and failed to elect the Democratic party." This was the shrewd comment of a leader in Congress as the fiscal year ended on June 30th.

Very few of the glowing promises made by Candidate Truman have been redeemed. This is not the fault of President Truman, who has stubbornly held out for all of his program. Meanwhile, his proposal for new taxes is dead. All but the first nine lines of the administration's labor bill have been wiped out by Senate vote.

Of the Truman budget of $40 billion, $26 million remain unfinished business, and there is a strong probability that the President will be required to cut away from 5 to 10 per cent of his requests.

The Republican plan for agriculture is still the law of the land, despite the efforts of Secretary Brannan to secure the enactment of a new Democratic plan. The housing bill has been enacted. But aid to education, civil rights, socialized medicine, aid to backward countries and many other Truman-approved measures are not likely to secure final consideration.

Many of these rejected or neglected proposals were in Democratic platform. The bright hopes of January are withered in July. In a parlimentary government, this situation would call for a new election, but our constitution and the size and nature of our country prohibit that. And even if a new election were held, the same situation would prevail in a few months. The fact is that the Democratic party, despite its apparent success last year, is not a real party; and the Republican party is unable to win Presidential elections because it cannot carry with it its natural allies in the South.

* * *

Two Electorates.

In a sense, there are two American electorates—one for Presidential choice and another for the choice of congress. That is our normal state, and never the twain shall meet except in an abnormal time such as prevailed between 1932 and 1936.

Since this division is our normal political status, it would seem to be intelligent course to recognize it and see how things can be worked out under it. The President might well stop talking about next year—a refrain taken up by Messrs. William Green and Philip Murray and Truman spokesmen in congress. They must know that, whether the shadow of majority passes from one side to the other next year or whether the present balance is retained, the votes on labor, spending and other matters will be about what they are now. Only the pressure of minorities and the need to placate them requires the President to keep up his futile and unreal battle.

The country needs a workable government. It needs the enactment of reasonable measure of legislation. Above all, it needs legislation to meet what may be a creeping recession. A stalemate helps no one.

A statesman in the White House would now face realities, sit down with leaders of both major parties and with the two factions of the Democratic party and compromise some of these issues. This is especially true of labor matters, because it is clear that labor cannot have the old Wagner act, but that it can have improvements in the Taft-Hartley act. President Truman could not lose the support of labor even if he agreed to compromise, for the present leaders of labor have nowhere else to go.

A bit of reform is needed in the murky political atmosphere of Washington.

Viewing the National Scene

Seek Labor, Farm Unity

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Against the background of President Truman's and labor's defeat in Congress on repeal of the Taft-Hartley act the skillful strategy behind the current Democratic midwest conference at Des Moines now stands out in sharp relief.

What happened on Taft-Hartley repeal was expected by practical political realists in the Democratic high command, and the Des Moines farmer-labor session in the heart of the corn and wheat belt was projected with exactly that in mind, among other objectives.

The hope is to seal the sort of involuntary voting alliance between farmer and city worker that revealed itself in the Truman victory—and each for its own selfish reasons—into a real working alliance.

The aim is to pull in enough additional members of House and Senate in next year's congressional elections from the midwest and mountain area represented in the Des Moines meeting to offset southern conservatives and thus assure the Truman labor and social welfare program in the next Congress.

As important as getting enough new Democrats from this area is what sort of Democrats they are; that is, what is their economic viewpoint. They must be members who support labor as well as farm aspirations. That, of course, is why labor is now so keenly interested in a farmer-labor alliance within the Democratic party. They want a voice in selecting candidates in that area. In that they naturally have the blessing of Democratic party leaders.

That is why Democrats invited them to the Des Moines meeting and that is why, once there, labor leaders got up, one after another, to emphasize the common interest of farmers and workers and why they attempted to show how the Taft-Hartley act by penalizing labor and affecting labor's welfare and income also ufects farmers, since labor is the farmer's single biggest market.

* * *

Sweetened For Labor.

The Brannan farm plan, which was launched at Des Moines, is the symbol and the catalyzing influence. It is designed not only to hold farmers in the Democratic party, but also to attract labor and thus provide a common rallying point. It is sweetened for city labor, as consumers, with subsidies to keep down prices of foodstuffs.

There is a practical political aspect in selecting the terrain for another effort, one of many through our history, to create a farmer-labor alliance. It is what might be called the open hunting ground for additional Democrats. It is, in fact, about the only one. For Democrats reached virtually their point of saturation elsewhere in the last election.

Only a real political revolution could squeeze more Democrats out of other sections and such revolutions come but rarely in off-year elections such as that of 1950.

On paper, the opportunity to offset southern conservative Democrats is rich next year in the area embraced in the 16 states represented at the Des Moines conference, ranging from Ohio on the east to the far borders of the mountain states. There are nine Republican Senate seats at stake there. The holders of all of them voted against Taft-Hartley repeal, and so the issue is ready-made. Only six Democratic senate seats are at stake in the area, and generally in favorable territory.

The weakness of labor's position in this congress, as in others, is the little support it draws from strictly farm representatives, even among Democrats. It was obvious from an analysis of this 81st congress, as reported here soon after the election, that it was not at all a "labor congress," as some had anticipated, as most additional Democrats came from farm states in the unexpected Democratic upheaval in that area.

Creation of a farmer-labor alliance is a difficult task, as experience has revealed. It has happened. It could happen again. Upon its success depends the success of Democrats in the 1950 congressional elections and, for that reason, these elections will be the most interesting in quite a while.

Oppression Grows, Czech Hopes Fail

By J. C. OESTREICHER

International News Service Foreign Director

Czechoslovak government officials have called for the "final defeat" of the established Roman Catholic church hierarchy and there are indications that the clerical problem in Prague soon will reach its climax.

Whether that means the arrest of Prague's Archbishop Msgr. Josef Beran remains to be seen.

But except for a few vague statements by government officials about wanting "peace" with the church, there are definite signs that the campaign of oppression is gaining momentum rather than losing it.

The question is being asked frequently how it is possible that a communist government in existence for less than a year and a half is able, without the actual use of armed force, virtually to liquidate a church so closely bound up with the daily public and private lives of the religious people of Bohemia and Moravia.

This matter, like so many other tragedies of the last decade, goes back to the Munich treaty of 1938.

It is a matter of record that this ill-starred pact set in motion a series of blows that has left the Czechoslovak people shocked, nervous and helpless. They are forced to shrug their shoulders at events which would have led them to revolution in the past.

The Czechs were given to believe that Munich meant peace for them, even though it meant certain sacrifices.

They accepted their fates stoically. But then came a news succession of events culminating in their occupation by Nazi forces and the national will, once so strong, began to crumble.

Then came the war and Russian occupation, the suicide of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk and the death of President Eduard Benes and the sudden imposition upon the people of a communist government alien to the people's nature, their desires and their interests.

Despite considerable rebellious activities in Czech army and air force ranks, there has been little in the nature of opposition to the changes being brought about.

Travelers from Czechoslovakia tell how an attitude of sullen resignation has replaced the once tremendous vitality of the people.

Shoulders merely drop lower with each successive blow. The communist machine, headed by President Klement Gottwald, is so skilfully organized, so immensely powerful, that the Czechs have come to expect a constant and recurring curtailment of their liberties.

Long ago they abandoned hopes of assistance from the western powers.

Bendix Strike Threatened Airlift

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The public was never told how the Bendix strike at South Bend, Ind., involving fewer than 6,000 workers, came closer to grounding the Berlin airlift than the Russians ever did. That was the reason the air force urgently summoned both sides to the Pentagon last week to settle the strike at a dramatic, all-night session.

Here, for the first time, is the inside story:

After negotiations broke down at South Bend, Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington personally invited Bendix-Boss Malcolm Ferguson to Washington. Simultaneously he sent an air force plane to Detroit to pick up Walter Reuther, chief of the United Auto Workers.

The two men were brought in to see Symington separately. The secretary of the air force warned both that plane production would be crippled, the Berlin lift forced down for lack of key parts — if the strike continued.

It was Reuther who suggested they sit down on the spot and settle the strike.

"With all this talent from both labor and management," he declared, "if we can't settle this strike, then it just plain can't be settled. And I'm willing to sweat it out."

Ferguson was brought in, and the two men met face to face.

"I am convinced that by using the democratic processes." Reuther offered, "we can settle this strike, and by doing it in that way, we will enable the air force to continue to defend the democratic processes we are using."

Ferguson promptly agreed.

Assistant secretary of labor John Gibson also was called in, offered to serve as arbitrator.

For several hours the two sides haggled behind closed doors, took time out only for quick snacks. Symington kept a pentagon kitchen open all night to accommodate them.

By 3 a. m. the negotiators were still deadlocked. Finally Reuther blurted out: "The thing that bewilders me is how a situation that has dragged out ten weeks and should have been settled at the outset, yet has been handled with good faith and good will and intelligence, could have gotten so 'snarled' up as it is tonight."

Reuther used one word that can't be repeated here which caused the tense, solemn group to burst out in laughter. This broke the ice and started the negotiators on the road to settlement. By 11 a. m., almost 24 hours after they started negotiating, an agreement was reached, ending one of the most critical strikes since V-J day —another triumph for the democratic processes.

Lobbyist's Gadget

Latest gadget the American Medical association lobby is using in the pressure campaign against federal health insurance is a post card, distributed from doctors' offices, which threatens vote retaliations against members of congress who support the health program.

The card reads: "As for myself and family, which consists of—votes, we are unalterably opposed to compulsory health insurance or any other legislation which tends to regiment our population and socialize our government."

The sender fills in the blank with the number of votes in his family. Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, a leading sponsor of health insurance, reports he has received hundreds of the stereotyped cards. Some have also been mailed to President Truman.

One sender, whose wife recently underwent an operation, wrote Pepper that he was "compelled" by the doctor performing the operation to fill out and sign the card. Another reported that he feared he would "antagonize my doctor and nurse" if he didn't comply with their wishes.

Both these individuals informed Senator Pepper that they strongly supported the health-insurance program. Similar cards also are being distributed by Florid iansurance salesmen.

Old Soldiers

Five hundred forgotten soldiers, who survived past wars but are victims of old age, are waiting to get into the national soldiers' home at Washington, D. C.

But there's no room.

Those on the inside would like to make room by building new quarters. They have plenty of money —$33,000,000, every cent contributed through the years by enlisted men. But the money is held in trust by the treasury department, and the ex-soldiers can't get it out without an act of Congress.

Though this money belongs to the soldiers and not the taxpayers, the budget bureau has turned down a request to release $16,700,000 to expand the soldiers home. The bureaus recommendation has influenced Congress to refuse use of the funds—despite the fact that the soldiers' home hasn't been expanded since 1911.

Meanwhile, the waiting list of aged, lonely ex-soldiers is growing longer.

Assignment: America

In Defense of Siggie

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — American newspapers, which are almost wholly owned, managed and edited by men, are eternally printing assorted sneers at the essential masculinity of the American male and his general ineptitude in the game of love — or, to put it poetically, his way with a maid, if his wife is lucky enough to have one in these parlous times.

Just why the editorial lads like to lacerate their own feelings and those of their predominately masculine audience with such harrassing flagellation is a mystery. Don't ask me. I only work here. I don't own, boss or edit a paper.

But it is always front page news when some Australian lady bushwhacker, as in recent days, pens a piece avowing that Americans are lousy lovers.

(What I personally think of the general taste, ancestry and breeding of these literary females who are eternally penning mots beginning "Latta, Esquimoes, Latins, Comanches, Texans or Laplanders are lousy lovers", cannot be set down here in a family journal. "Inexorable" is about the only descriptive word I can be certain of getting into print.)

Ye editors had themselves a field day a few months ago when some French punk was picked up out in Los Angeles (where else?) for demonstrating, with the aid of an American girl, how American gents should practice the art of L'Amour Toujours.

Naturally the French artist was charging a slight admission price, and naturally he was very bitter about the amatory prowess of American men when he was picked up and tossed in jail.

Such self-scouring was bound to have its reward eventually, and I am happy to see that an American Don Juan has arisen to vindicate American manhood.

Wooing At 73.

Gentlemen, I give you Sigmund Z. Engel, the gray lothario, whom an ungrateful nation has seen fit to put in the pokey instead of on a pedestal. This 73-year-old Studs Lonigan, a homegrown American product, was still wooing and winning ladies right and left when the law struck him down.

It is estimated that good old Siggie in his time has made up to $2,000,000 out of pitching his own brand of American woo at a nation-wide variety of emotionally impressionable dolls.

Any man who is irresistible to the tune of $2,000,000 is not to be laughed off by Dun and Bradstreet. At the time he was picked up in Chicago, two attractive women, many years his junior, had joyously entrusted him with $7,300 in cash and $50,000 in jewels.

Even after the two gals confronted him with their broken hearts and bent pocketbooks, Siggie still had enough charm to turn their combined wrath.

Even behind bars, Siggie still looked good.

Whether Siggie is finally sprung or put in durance vile, it is plain to me that Sigmund Z. Engel is the Dale Carnegie of L'Amour. As a one-man lonely hearts club, who has been successfully operating for goodness knows how long, Siggie owes it to posterity and to the put-upon, libelled and traduced American male to write a book.

The title should be obvious: "How to woo women and win wives." If Siggie will but commit to paper his soul, his know-how and his technique, his tome is bound to have in it twice as much punch as the Kinsey report, as well as being a lot more informative and generally useful to the average reader. I think the gold digger of the year has a message for American men.

Any book penned by the dishonorable Sigmund Z. Engel is certain to answer the canards contained in all those various "Americans are lousy lovers" books, articles and accusations that roll from the presses with dull regularity.

In fact, if there is any gratitude among American men, they will start collecting an Engel's defense fund. Here is an American boy who has made good and plenty. What Engel has done, his fellow compatriots can do. This is a comforting thought, men.

Pardon me while I start passing the hat among my editors.

Phones for Farmers.

It will surprise city residents, who accept the telephone as a matter of course, that only 42.2 per cent of farm homes now have this convenience. That means that nearly 2,500,000 farm families don't have access to this form of communication.

Much the same situation existed in rural areas with regard to electric power until the Government-sponsored Rural Electrification Administration began its work some 15 years ago. At that time, only 10.9 per cent of farm homes had electricity. Now it has been brought to more than 70 per cent of rural residents.

Because of the costs involved, privately owned utilities companies have been unable to extend their facilities to many rural areas. In taking these conveniences to these farm homes, the Government is performing a service which would not be available without such a Federal program.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Sunday, July 7, 1929

Word was received that Davod W. Pontius, former Mansfield resident, had been elected president of the Pacific Electric railroad.

Frank Militello was injured by fall down stairs at his home, 206 North Diamond street.

Mansfield visitors to Lakeside were pleased over opportunity to hear sermons by Rev. R. E. Tulloss, former pastor of First Lutheran church here.

Jacob J. and Carl F. Schad returned to Peoria, Ill., after visiting parents here.

Salathiel Bower, 86, Civil war veteran, died.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Miller returned from visit in Monroe, Mich.

Fred Zellner was confined to his home by illness.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On July 7, 1912, the United States government took precautions at all Atlantic and gulf ports against bubonic plague, which was reported to have broken out in Porto Rica and Cuba.

The Monarch At Home

By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON the bank above our pond a colony of milk-weed grows, each plant dull bluish green with spirals of thick green leaves and balls of lilac-colored bloom. I watched them blow in the wind, swaying back and forth, but coming back again, like a pendulum, to the place of starting.

Their fragrance, heavy and penetrating, deluged me with delightful intimations. I sat and watched them from my chair beneath the weeping willow tree.

The flowers had many guests. A heavy droning bumble bee hovered an instant, then succumbed to the invitation of the many flower throats in well-shaped ball cluster, and lost himself in the depths of it.

A dozen broad-winged yellow butterflies clung close, sipping nectar hungrily. I noticed, too, the artistic open wings of a gigantic Monarch butterfly. It draped its wings about the ball of bloom like a sable curtain, concealing entirely its source of food from the many waiting wild bees.

Another Monarch zigzaged over my head and lit unerringly upon the ball of sweet perfume, opening and closing the double set of wings, like great hinges. Here was home!

Not everyone knows that a close relationship exists between milk-weed (or wild cotton) plants and Monarch butterflies. For only on wild cotton stalks do the larvae of Monarchs feed, and in autumn weave lovely pale green caskets that hang from one strong thread each. This fall I shall look for a half dozen such swinging cocoons that will have made themselves part of the dead milkweed stalks with their tilted, rakish seed pods. When the autumn blasts scatter milkweed down far and wide, and even when winter comes, these hard-shelled cradles will rattle and clash like small castanets.

Spring will bring swelling warmth, and new life. Then the pupa stirs, bursts its shell and comes forth — a new Monarch in search of another home — but always upon a milk-weed.

Galionite Faces Ohio Pen Terms

Pleads Guilty To Five Counts

BUCYRUS — Ernest O. Stein, 31, Galion, faces an indeterminate period in the Ohio penitentiary following his arraignment here before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl.

Stein, who is married and father of a small child, pleaded guilty to five counts of burglary and grand larceny and was given an indeterminate sentence on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

The Galionite has been held in Crawford county jail here since June 14 for a series of thefts from new homes and building sites in the Galion area. He was indicted last Saturday by the grand jury.

Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon said Stein admitted the theft of tools and other equipment valued at about $1,000. All but a few of the stolen items have been recovered, the prosecutor said.

Arraignment of other persons indicted by the grand jury is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Fall In Shelby Park Hurts Boy

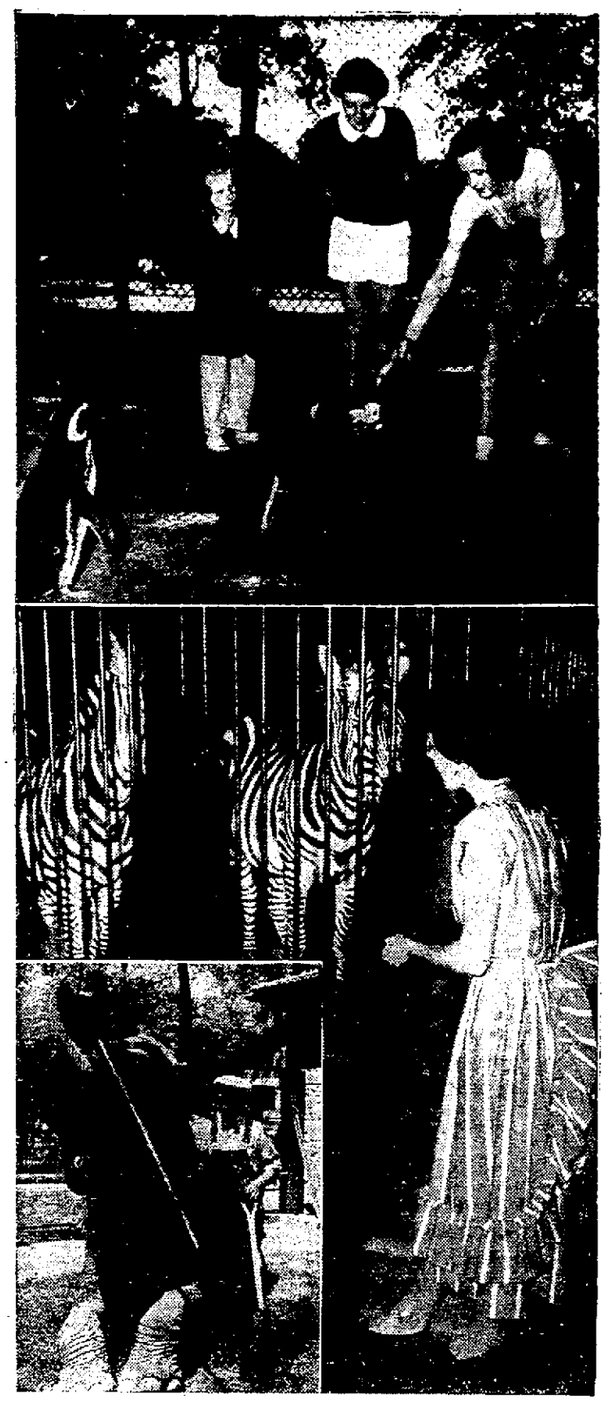
SHELBY — Richard Sines, 11, of 24 Walnut street, yesterday revealed head injuries received in Seltzer park here had been incurred playing in a stream below the north pavilion when he slipped and struck his head on a rock.

Richard, treated earlier at Memorial hospital here, was reported injured while diving into the park's swimming pool. He is confined to his home with a minor skull fracture. A physician was called when Richard developed a nose bleed after walking home from the park. X-rays were taken in the hospital to determine the extent of his injuries.

Treasurer In Holmes Lists Saturday Hours

MILLERSBURG — County Treasurer Tudy Cowgill announces that her office will remain open Saturday afternoons on July 9 and 16, from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m., for collection of taxes. Tax books will definitely close July 20 she further stated.

Charles Sheib, sales tax examiner, will be in the office of Treasurer Cowgill on July 21 and July 23 to assist vendors in making their semi-annual tax reports.



TOLEDO ZOO OFFERS VARIETY — Animals from steamy jungles and frigid wastes can be seen at the Toledo Zoo. Mayor Tells Bucyrus Council Low Water Rate Cuts Revenue

BUCYRUS—City council was informed at its meeting this week that the new lower minimum water rate will result in an annual loss of $4,500 in revenue.

Mayor R. L. Hertzer told councilmen the new rate, which is $3.50 quarterly for consumers using less than 700 cubic feet, will benefit many old age pensioners and elderly couples, who use only about one-half of the regular minimum cubage of 1,200 feet.

A survey showed that more than 700 domestic consumers were using about 600 feet quarterly but were charged for 1,200 feet before the lower rate became effective, the mayor pointed out.

Only ordinance passed by council in a brief session was an act limiting speed of vehicles in the city's parks to 15 miles per hour.

A public hearing on the proposed budget for 1950 municipal operating expenditures will be held Tuesday, July 19. The tentative budget will be given to council for its approval at the next meeting on July 19.

The six months probation period of James Moore as patrolman having expired, William Watkins was appointed to fill the vacancy as a regular patrolman for the probationary period of six months.

Crestline Council Seeking Easement

CRESTLINE — Mayor A. P. Sonner and clerk Marie Schill were authorized by city council at this week's meeting to obtain an easement from Harold Ryan, South Washington avenue for the purpose of laying a water line across his property.

Plymouth Elevator Gets Wheat From New Haven

PLYMOUTH—John Ganzhorn, manager of the local elevator, reports Neil Slessman, of New Haven, was the first area farmer to market his wheat.

Slessman's wheat arrived Saturday with moisture content at 12.65 per cent and tested 58 pounds and brought $1.80 per bushel. It was considered the best quality in five years. The elevator was open July 4 when 1,800 bushels of wheat was taken in at a slightly lower price.

Seltzer Park Pool Instructions Begin

SHELBY — One hundred and sixty-six youngsters took part in the Red Cross swimming classes held at the Seltzer pool yesterday.

Under the supervision of Miss Joan Henson, lifeguard at the pool, 115 beginners took their first instructions yesterday morning and 39 intermediates, 10 prospects for junior life saving and two prospects for senior life saving participated in the days classes.

The classes are being sponsored by the Red Cross during the month of July and will be held for one hour periods on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

$175 Raised For Victims Of Bolt, Fire

ONTARIO — Merchants here have received $175 contributed to the relief of a burned-out veteran and his family who lost their nearby farm house, its furnishings and their clothing June 19 when a lightning bolt struck the house.

Charles Hardy, 23, his wife, Daisy, and seven - month - old daughter, Deborah, were the fire victims. They were visiting Mrs. Hardy's parents in Mansfield at the time the bolt struck and started the blaze and since that time have been making their home with the parents.

It was disastrious to the Hardys in that the flames consumed a monthly payment set aside to help pay on the 70-acre farm they were purchasing on a land contract. Hardy was laid off April 1 at the Westinghouse plant in Mansfield and lacked crops as occupancy of the farm wasn't taken until the start of the year.

Residents in this Springfield township area will be canvassed at a later date as household furnishings and food will be sought. Hardy intends rebuilding the house, although no work has started. The destroyed structure was a two-story frame house with five rooms.

Walton Lake Scene Of Afternoon Event

CRESTLINE — More than 100 show horses from all over the state will appear Sunday at the show to be held at Crestline Walton Lake. A special feature will be the initial showing of beautiful white horses with carriage more than 100 years old.

There will be 13 classes with awards for the three top horses in each class. Trophies, cash and ribbons will be awarded by the Crestline Walton Lake company, sponsors of the show.

Lunch will be available on the grounds and parking space close to the show ground is promised. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted without charge to the afternoon affair.

Defer Phone Rate Action

ASHLAND—City council will defer any action on the proposed telephone rate increase here by the Northern Ohio Telephone company until the public utilities commission notifies council the increases are under consideration, council decided at its meeting this week.

The only organized protest against the proposed increase thus far has come from the Ashland County Bar association which filed protest recently with the Public Utilities commission.

In the protest, the bar association stated no increase should be granted until the company rectifies the present "deplorable" service.

Lucas County Health Post Given Dr. Mahla

GALION — Of interest here is the appointment of Dr. F. E. Mahla, former Galion resident, to the position of health commissioner in Lucas county. His new appointment has been made by the Lucas county board of health for a two year term.

He was known here as Edgar Mahla, and is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mahla. Dr. Mahla's father was a former Erie locomotive engineer. The family came to Galion from Nevada when Edgar was a small boy, and he was graduated from the local high school in 1904.

Reynaud Calls for Far-Reaching Trade Program

Wants More U. S. Money Invested

Asks Lowering Of Trade Bars

PARIS — (INS) — Former French Premier and Foreign Minister Paul Reynaud called on the U. S., British and French governments yesterday to adopt an eight-point, far reaching financial and trade program to avert a "grave economic crisis."

Reynaud outlined his program after he dined with U. S. Secretary of the treasury John W. Snyder.

The proposal forms the basis of Snyder's talks with British and French officials, and is generally believed to be supported by French Finance Minister Maurice Petsche, who once was Reynaud's finance under-secretary.

Reynaud called for three billion dollars worth of private investments from the United States, and urged that U. S. "trade barriers" be lowered before the end of the Marshall plan in 1952.

He said that unless it is made easier for Americans to import European goods, Europe's doors will be closed to American products.

The main points of Reynaud's program are:

1. — The devaluation of the pound and franc and other artifically valued western European currencies.

2.—Devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold through a redistribution of the precious metal.

3.—A sharp reduction of American tarriff barriers to enable the western European nations to sell more goods to the United States.

4.—The gradual convertibility of European trade credits into dollars to permit the expansion of American trade with Europe.

5.—The expansion of multi-lateral trade among the western European nations through a closer economic union.

6.—The resumption of American governmental and private purchases of British, French and other European raw materials for stock-piling purposes.

7. — The encouragement of long term private American investments to the extent of at least three billion dollars to help develop natural resources in the western European nations.

8.—The use of Marshall plan funds or other American financial aid to effect the de facto stabilization of western European currencies following their devaluation to real value levels.

DAMAGED BY FIRE—A city fireman examines the damage done to a garage at the home of J. R. Clemens, 711 Davis road, when sparks from a charcoal grill in the driveway set the garage afire yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Clemens said the family was cooking some meat on the outside grill when the blaze started. Firemen from No. 3 and No. 5 stations answered the call at 3:20 p. m., and firemen from Central station arrived a little later. The garage and a room over the garage were damaged extensively, and a car inside the building was destroyed. The fire was confined to the garage and no damage was done to the house.

Town Saves Money

CREEDE, Colo. — (UP) — Residents of Creede decided $220,000 was more than they could afford. That is what a building contractor said it would cost to put up their new school building. Instead, everybody pitched in and built the structure out of native lumber. The cost was $89,000.

One-Pound Plastic Lung Now Aids Victims of Dread Polio

NEW YORK —(AP)— A plastic lung, weighing only a pound, is ready to aid polio victims this year.

Fitting over the chest, it will do their breathing while they lie abed, ride in wheelchairs, or take exercises to strengthen muscels. They can wear it going to a hospital. Their arms are left free, so they can read and feed themselves. It is cooler than the big 700-pound iron lung, which encases the whole body except the head.

The lung is a clear plastic hood with rubber on all sides, and is curved to fit over the chest. It is held in place by suction and two thin straps fitting around the patient's back. A seven-foot hose connects the hood with a small machine that does the breathing.

The machine, weighing 45 pounds, lowers the air pressure within the hood, thus raising the patient's diaphragm so air is drawn into his lungs. When the pressure in the hood is raised the chest muscles collapse, expelling the air from the lungs.

The machine is set for 14 to 28 breaths a minute. It has separate controls at each end, so it can care for two patients at a time.

There are six sizes of the plastic-and-rubber hoods, to fit patients from babies to big adults.

A storage battery operates the machine for four hours. Or it can be run on house current, with the battery recharging at the same time. The machine and battery are light enough to be transported easily. They can be loaded aboard a wheel chair while the rider wears the lung.

About 100 of these lightweight lungs are going into use over the country. Another 75 are ready for shipment to any spots hit by polio epidemics. The lung is the Monaghan respirator, made by the J. J. Monaghan company, Denver.

Mission Prayer Band Convenes

An interesting meeting was held by the Ladies' Missionary Prayer Band of the Gospel Center Church as they met for prayer and fellowship at the home of Mrs. Bruce Gruneisen, 331 Springmill street.

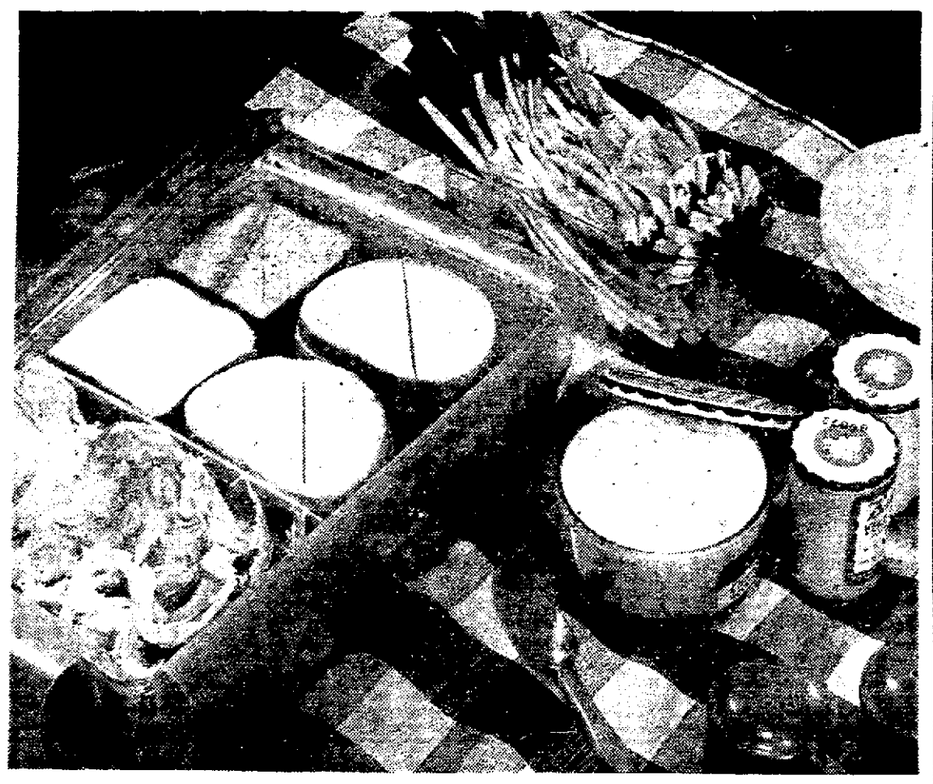
The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Edward C. Simm. Miss Alice Hazlett gave the devotions, using as her theme, Proverbs. 23-7 and Philippians 4-8. She read a poem entitled, "Thoughts" and also an article called, "What Every Gentile Should Know."

The study time was spent on the "European Christian Mission". The speakers were: Mrs. Clyde Swank and Mrs. Arthur Sites. The European Christian Mission was founded in 1904 by G. P. Raud. In answer to prayer the mission has become a large international work which is used of God for the salvation of many souls and the edification of believers. Today thousands of people in North America, the British Isles, and many European countries pray for the European Christian Mission.

By 1939 the European Christain Mission operated in twelve different countries of its field, and had more than a hundred workers, both European nationals, and American, Canadian and British workers.

At the conculsion of the talks, a prayer service was held to pray for the missionaries.

Picnickers Like To Fix Their Own Lunches



SMART PICNIC PLANNING — Calls for taking along the "makings" rather than a fully prepared lunch. Picnickers like to put their own lunches together when it's time to eat. It's fun, and the food tastes better. Besides this cuts down on the work to be done ahead of time. Ideal sandwich fillings to take along are the prepared spreads. Any grocery store shows a wide variety of these. For example, there's a whole "family" of cheese spreads. All of these come in glasses and a few in bowls; each has a tight fitting lid. Take along a variety of these and let each picnicker choose his favorite. Wonderful for packing the food are the inexpensive, light-in-weight plastic boxes. Line the box with waxed paper and stack slices of a variety of breads. Pile the buttered slices in pairs and cut in halves for easy sandwich making. Fold the ends of the paper over the top to keep the bread moist. This way it's easy to recover slices which are left over—if any. In a section of the box or another one, place clean, crisp lettuce leaves. In any picnic group, there are always some who like lettuce in a sandwich. In a smaller plastic container, place crispy raw vegetables in layers—scallions, celery, carrot sticks and radishes. When ready to eat raise the bottom layer and prop it against one end of the box. This will make it easy to pull out just the pieces you want. In your picnic collection, tuck a jar of mustard, a bottle of pickles or olives, spreaders, a fork or so, paper plates and napkins, a gay cloth, perhaps some fruit, and a thermos jug of your favorite beverage—hot or cold. And off you go for a leisurely day. You've had litlte work to do ahead of time; also there will be little to clean up.

Name Officers For Committee

The publicity committee, Women of the Moose, met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Harold Hill, 25 Wolfe avenue, with thirteen members and three guests, Mrs. Cloyd Wyckoff, senior regent, Miss Emily Ross and Miss Marie Louise Briggs, in attendance.

Mrs. Hill, chairman, conducted the business meeting. Miss Geraldine Madden was appointed secretary and Mrs. Clara Hauserman, treasurer. Plans were discussed for chapter night in September. Secret pal names were drawn.

Mrs. Mary Ross won the club prize while contest prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harry Shover and Miss Margaret Bush. At the close of the evening luncheon was served with green and white appointments. Garden bouquets decorated the luncheon tables. The next meeting will be held August 2 at the home of Mrs. Ross, 1200 Wyandotte avenue.

REGULAR SESSION

The regular meeting of the Order of Rainbow for Girls. Assembly No. 32, was held Wednesday evening in the K. of P. hall with Miss Betty Hopper, worthy adviser, in charge. Plans were made for a splash party to be held July 20 at Liberty park pool. Merit bars were awarded to several members for service to the organization.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Donna Porter At Cicolanis

Mrs. J. L. Cicolani entertained eight guests Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Donna Porter, bride-elect of John J. Cicolani.

The shower was held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Porter, 661 Glenwood boulevard. Yellow, green and lavendar appointments were used for the dessert luncheon served at a long table covered with a lace cloth. The table was centered with a bowl of yellow roses and lavendar astors. Two double candelabra containing yellow and green tapers, flanked the bowl.

The guests played bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Keith Mong and the honoree. Mrs. Mong presented her prize to the bride-elect. The hostess's gift to Miss Porter was a white wool blanket.

The couple will exchange vows July 15 at 7:30 p. m. at the Central Methodist church. The custom of open church will be observed for the formal ceremony. The bride's attendants will be Mrs. James Cicolani, matron of honor; Miss Betty Pagnard, bridesmaid; and Lois Gene Allen, flower girl. James Cicolani will serve as best man. The ushers will be Willard Follett, of Columbus, and Richard Cicolani.

Auxiliary Meets At Memorial Hall

Mrs. Elizabeth Harter, president, conducted the meeting of the Spanish War Veterans auxiliary held Tuesday evening in Memorial hall. The session was opened by prayer given by Mrs. Mary Reeder, chaplin.

Committee reports were given by the chairmen. Mrs. Hattie Seymore, patriotic instructor, gave a paper on "What is Americanism?". "Good Deeds of the Spanish War Veterans" was reviewed by Mrs. Edith Massa.

Members of the Marquis Sewing Circle met during the afternoon for a session and 6 o'clock dinner.

The next meeting will be July 19 in Memorial hall.

Newlyweds To Reside In Columbus

BUCYRUS — Miss Mary Ellen Rossman, daughter of Mrs. John Rossman, Bucyrus, became the bride of James Fleck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleck of Findlay, in a ceremony solemnized June 25 in Holy Trinity church here by Rev. Fr. Leo L. Reinartz.

The double ring ceremony was read at a nuptial High Mass. The church choir sang the mass with Joseph Gaa at the organ.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown made with a long circular train and poke bonnet with a fingertip veil of nylon tulle. Her jewelry was a turquoise pendant on a silver chain, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Fred Dumit of Columbus, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William, Toledo. Louis Fleck of Findlay, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Bernard Fleck of Findlay and Fred Dumit of Columbus were ushers.

Following the wedding a breakfast was served for the bridal party and the immediate families at El Sombrero restaurant near here. Two hundred invitations were issued for a reception at the Moose club here Saturday afternoon.

The newlyweds will live in Columbus, where Mr. Fleck is enrolled in the OSU College of Veterinary Medicine.

Mrs. Fleck has been secretary to Crawford County Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon. She is a graduate of Bucyrus High school. Her husband, a Navy veteran of World War II, attended Wilmington, O. college.

Rebekahs Plan Annual Picnic

Mrs. Grace Pocock, noble grand, presided at the meeting held by Miriam Rebekah lodge, No. 388, Wednesday evening, in Oddfellows hall.

During the meeting the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Sarah Cashell, a member of the organization since 1912, and the past president of the Ohio Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Jennie Herman.

July 21 is the date chosen for the annual picnic to be held at South park for members and their families. The affair will begin at 6 o'clock. Meat, rolls, coffee and cream will be furnished by the organization.

The next regular session will be Wednesday, July 20, in Oddfellow's hall.

Burns Kattenberg, assistant manager of the Mansfield-Leland hotel, had an interesting experience recently, when he became acquainted with the famous Florida Trio in Chicago. The Trio of contortionists, who are world wide known, are appearing in principal cities of the United States, and were interviewed by Kattenberg at the Oriental Theater in Chicago. Burns, who has been intensely interested in contortionists for many years, has a large collection of pictures, interviews and articles on this type of performer from all over the world. He recently was asked to join the staff of Muscle Power Magazine, and obtained an interesting article for this publication from the trio. They are Italians, by the names of Arturo and Bianca Coventi, the former being the contortionist. The other member of the act is Zore Zappaterria. They have been working as an act for 25 years. The trio was passing through Mansfield this week, and stopped to visit Kattenberg on their way to New York City. While spending the Fourth with him, they presented him with many photos and programs from Europe. Burns will have his second article in the August issue of Muscle Power Magazine.

New Fabrics Need Care In Laundering

By ELEANOR ROSS

THERE are so many new fabrics and mixtures of man-made fibers woven with wools, silks and cottons that laundry lore is becoming of increasing importance To the fore this summer are cool, wonderful fabrics composed of nylon and cotton, sheer, crisp, tubbable, as are nylon and some rayon fabrics.

While some fabric tags do suggest dry cleaning, the majority of these mixtures can be laundered with care A nylon-cotton mixture should be laundered by hand in warm, sudsy water and pressed before completely dry These cotton nylons do present pressing problems as cotton requires a hot iron, while nylon a very moderate heat So set the iron at a moderate temperature and do a good, fast job

All Nylon

As for all nylon, if it has been properly heat-set, usually it does not require ironing If you want to iron an all-nylon fabric, do so with a moderately hot iron only For handling a nylon-rayon mixture that is washable, use lukewarm suds and do a quick job Do not soak do not use the washing machine but just gently squeeze the suds through it Give it plenty of rinsing and then roll it in a terry towel to remove as much excess moisture as possible Hang in the shade or away from heat Press with a moderate iron on the wrong side Following this procedure should result in a fine laundering job

While we're in the laundry may we offer a reminder anent fabric gloves so popular at this time of year? Wash the gloves off the hands This is to prevent seam threads from breaking Use a soft handbrush and soapsuds on extra-soiled spots White cotton gloves, if really grimy, can soak for a brief period in suds and a bleach Rinse fabric gloves thoroughly, using luke warm water for the first rinse cooler, if desired for the final rinse Squeeze out water carefully, do not wring or twist Smooth into shape before hanging over a smooth bar or placing on a flat surface to dry

Iced Tea Ideal For Summer

Don't simmer this summer Let iced tea, which is a mighty refreshing drink, be the answer to your summer beverage problem Iced tea has so much in its favor as the ideal hot weather drink that it is no wonder its popularity increases year after year.

Here are a few of the many attributes of iced tea It is delicious It is cooling It is satisfying It is thirst-quenching It is easy to make It is economical – in fact, it is the most economical beverage in all the world, excepting plain water In short, iced tea combines everything that a perfect hot weather drink should be

Right now, while it is still early in the summer season, is the time to decide on iced tea as your cold drink this summer Start serving it now with meals and in-between-times to all of your family and to all of your guests as well "M-m-m! Good and cold!" is what they all will say about iced tea Everybody likes Iced Tea – that is what has made it America's favorite hot weather beverage.

MAKE IT CORRECTLY

In order to enjoy iced tea to the utmost, of course, it is necessary to make it correctly First of all, select a good quality tea-- Make hot tea exactly as usual by scalding a teapot and putting in a teaspoonful of tea or one tea-bag for each person. Next, pour fresh "bubbling" boiling water over the tea and allow to stand for five minutes Stir, then pour into glasses filled with ice Follow these directions and you will always have a perfectly clear, cooling drink with all of the delicious and refreshing qualities of iced tea Add sugar and lemon to taste and garnish with mint leaves if desired

CONCENTRATE METHOD

To make a larger quantity of iced tea in advance and at the same time conserve on the amount of boiling water for brewing and ice for cooling, use the following concentrate method To make eight servings of iced tea, put eight teaspoonfuls of tea or eight tea bags into a teapot and pour on one pint (two glasses) of fresh, "bubbling water Allow to stand for five minutes, stir and pour into serving pitcher Dilute with two pints (four glasses) of cold tap water and let stand at room temperature until ready to serve Fill glasses with ice and pour tea from pitcher over the ice

Few Extra Touches Can Convert Yard In Playground

All the world s a playground for a child, but the safest playground is right at home Keeping children near home within sight but in the fresh air is no problem for the housewife whose yard has more playground appeal" than any other spot in town

The playground-at-home, with its focal point outside the kitchen window keeps youngsters in safe surroundings off the streets and enables the home maker to keep an eye on them while accomplishing household tasks Even with a tight budget a mother's ingenuity can create a playground that should please any tot

The summertime cooling-off problem can be solved at home by a real tile wading pool about ten feet square and only two feet deep for safety's sake When the children grow up it can be converted into a lily pond A shower-head on the outside kitchen wall opposite the sink to cut plumbing costs is another safe cooler A water-proof quarry tile base under the shower will protect the porch floor Or, if the shower is in the yard a six foot square quarry tile shower platform will prevent mud forming

A mental journey into yesterday should result in many ideas for easily assembled backyard - playground equipment Strong rope, a sturdy overhanging tree branch and handmade seat will provide a swing, always a childhood delight To bring the beach to the home, a simple sand box can be constructed at practically no cost

A removable shelf that converts the kitchen window into a service bar at lunchtime makes the backyard a picnic ground A tile topped table decorated with Mother Goose or fairy tale figures is an ideal spot for kiddie lunches The clay tile surface is rugged and waterproof and can be cleaned with the swipe of a cloth

Basketball hoops on the garage wall afford daily hours of pleasure and muscle building for teen-age boys A weatherproof quarry tile porch floor gives teen-age girls a cool place for evening entertaining at home Braziers for weiner or marshmallow roasts can be set safely on this fireproof floor

Week Ends Can Be Fun, With Little Time On Cooking

Weekends are the time for fun and frolic But all good cooks feel the necessity of plying their guests with succulent foods — so here are practical hints for organizing a week-end that both you and your guests will enjoy

For Sunday breakfast start out with your favorite cereal and fruit a corned beefhash omelet, hot toast and coffee Sunday night supper should be apricot and pineapple cocktail, mock chicken legs succotash and lemon-cucumber aspic With this serve raspberry meringue pie and hot tea or coffee

Now here is how you do it: Friday is the day you shop and Saturday morning is the time you cook First thing on Saturday morning, put the asparagus soup into the refrigerator to chill — just before lunch blend with an equal amount of top milk and a little scraped onion. When you put the soup into the refrigerator be sure to add a can of pineapple juice and a can of apricot nectar—for Sunday night supper.

On Saturday morning you make the meringue shell for the fruit pie and while that bakes start Sunday s cucumber aspic Dissolve gelatine, let cool, chop vegetables and add when gelatine is ready Now make the pie filling

After the pie is cooled mix the tomato — tuna casserole together and store it in the refrigerator Half an hour before dinner start it baking With the mock chicken legs (you know these — ground veal shaped by the meat dealer) ready to cook Sunday all that s left to finish is to cut and serve the aspic and pie

Follow these directions and you can begin your week end of fun at noon on Saturday

TOMATO-TUNA CASSEROLE

Grated tuna fish 6 or 6½ ounce can
Peas cooked drained 1½ cups
Cream of celery soup condensed 1 can Milk, ½ cup
Dry mustard, ⅛ teaspoon
Potato chips crushed ½ cup
Natural Cheddar cheese grated ½ cup
Tomato slices 6

Combine tuna fish peas, soup mustard milk and potato chips Pour into casserole Sprinkle top with grated cheese Bake in an oven 325 degrees for 25 minutes Makes four servings

* * *

A refreshing beginning for any hot summer meal is tomato frost This is how you make it to two cups of canned tomato juice add 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire, 1 tablespoon grated onion ½ cup diced celery Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze to soft mush Turn in cold bowl fluff with egg beater and serve at once A delicious chilly start for four

Vandenberg Calls for Passage of North Atlantic Pact

Asks Truman To 'Enlist' World Aid

Hails Strength In Alliance

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., proposed yesterday that President Truman rally the peoples of the world to a new crusade for peace and universal disarmament by a global-beamed address.

The GOP foreign policy spokesman called on Mr. Truman to seek "good faith recruits" to "our good faith dedication to disarmament." He suggested that the President deliver this call to peace as soon as the Senate ratifies the North Atlantic Security alliance.

The Senate's former presiding officer proposed, too that Mr. Truman tell the world of the Senate's desire for "new strengths" in the United Nations charter.

Vandenberg made his proposal in a major Senate speech. He eloquently urged ratification of the North Atlantic pact, which he argued could be as powerful as the atomic bomb in halting communist aggression and preventing World War III.

He spoke as Sen Taft (R) Ohio, suggested that the one billion 130 million dollar arms for Europe program offered by the administration to implement the pact, be limited to military aid to France

Vandenberg in a 14 - page speech made these points

1. The "jeopardy" of today "stems from embattled, greedy communism abroad and at home, from kindred saboteurs in the United Nations" and "we are the final target."

2 This is the "hour of hours" for the United States to "play well" the world role it played "ill" at Yalta, "not so well" at Potsdam, "ill" in China but "well at Chapultepec, San Francisco, and at Rio"

3. The pact does not mean this country would be obligated to react to an attack on Paris and Copenhagen "in the same precise manner" as to an Attack on New York.

4. The treaty does not launch a vast arms race. It's "knockout" strength is its warning to an aggressor that 12 nations would join to "beat him to his knees." The "repressive" influence of the pact is "not dependent" upon arms implementation.

5 The only "effective way" to prevent U. S. economic collapse "pursuant to Soviet prayers" is to find a "dependable" peace formula.

Vandenberg argued that the pact presented the best peace formula. He said that even if war should come, "We would be infinitely better off for having instant and competent allies." He stressed that only Congress, even under the pact, can declare war. —

Sees Budget 'Short Cut'

Wants Teachers To Train Soldiers

BOSTON — (UP) — National Commander Perry Brown of the American Legion yesterday proposed the use of school teachers in a military training program which he said would reduce the nation's defense budget by $6 000 000 000 annually

He said about 100,000 veterans are school teachers and that "most of them would jump at the chance" to participate in a summertime civilian-soldier training program.

Brown outlined his plan in an address at the annual meeting of the National Education association

"Military men with whom I have talked tell me that a program of this kind would eliminate the need for a huge standing force," he said 'They say it would cut the size and cost of the armed forces by at least one-third.

"That means a saving of $6.-000,000,000 on the present defense budget."

Ashland Health Code To Extend To County

ASHLAND — Ashland county board of health this week passed a U. S public health standard code for eating and drinking establishments which will bring the entire county under the code in operation in Ashland city since July 1

Restaurants and other similar establishments in the county are given a year in which to conform to the requirements of the code.

Mayor Flays Lawyer After Deaf-Blind School Dispute

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The mayor of Columbus, saying he is being used as "a whipping post" in the deaf-blind school site controversy, yesterday accused attorney Dale Stump of Columbus of engineering dissension.

Stump is counsel for the Ohio Federation of Organizations for the Deaf He charged the city of Columbus with trying to steal Wyandot golf course from the state instead of allowing new schools for the blind and deaf to be built there

"You have been an obstructionist and a conniver," Mayor James A. Rhodes said to Stump at the beginning of a conference with a five-man committee of Ohio delegates to the National Association of the Deaf convention in Cleveland.

The mayor accused Stump with "playing politics" with State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson in "whipping up this controversy."

He said he entered the controversy over the use of Wyandot course at the insistence of Stump.

"You asked me to intervene," said Mayor Rhodes "I did. But, now as far as I am concerned, it will be the legislature that decides"

Hurl Rocks Into Homes

ELYRIA — (AP — A shop foreman and an assistant foreman at the strikebound General Industries company plant here complained to police yesterday that rocks were hurled through windows of their homes

Howard Amatto, a foreman, and Joseph Starom an assistant foreman, told Police Chief E J Stankard that they previously were threatened when they crossed picket lines of the Mechanics Educational Society of America (Ind) to enter the plant.

The union has been on strike for five weeks at the factory which makes plastic products and electric motors. MESA is seeking union security, holiday pay and other improvements in a new contract covering most of the company's 850 employes.

Amatto reported to police that a rock came through the window of the second-floor bedroom window while he and his family slept. Starom said that a window in his home was broken about the same time

Both men claimed they were included in a group of maintenance and supervisory employes to whom the union granted permission to pass through picket lines

Blames Narcotics For Bad Checks

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — William D Allen, a 35-year-old clerk, told the judge that he wrote bad checks while under the influence of whiskey, marijuana, benzedrine and sleeping pills.

"I got to drinking," Allen explained, "but that didn't satisfy me so I turned to marijuana That didn't satisfy either so I tried benzedrine That made me so nervous I couldn't sleep so I bought sleeping tablets.

"I was so doped up I didn't known what I was doing"

Judge Louis Comerford thought he could cure Allen by prescribing six months in the city workhouse.

Sun Helmets Aid Texas GIs, Mansfield Sergeant Claims

A Mansfielder, M-Sgt Earl E Mellick, supply sergeant of Fort Sam Houston's Station Complement 4006 ASU is grateful the sun helmet has been made official GI dress for personnel at Fort Sam Houston and Camp Bullis

Not since 1941 when the intensive training of large groups of soldiers at the Texas military reservations was thrown into high gear has the sun helmet been official GI dress there

Today, neat and lightweight sun helmets, equivalent in weight to the authorized service cap, now are being issued to soldiers throughout Fort Sam Houston.

The new headgear is being well received by Mellick and the GIs in Texas with the thermometer close to 100 daily

The helmet is to be authorized wear for officers and enlisted personnel, only when on the military reservations of Fort Sam Houston or Camp Bullis, and for formations when directed by the officers in charge.

Military personnel residing off the post have been warned not to wear the helmets to and from their quarters and all personnel have been forbidden to wear the issued helmets with civilian dress.

Most happy about the new issue are personnel a[illegible] outside duty, especially soldiers on duty at neighboring Camp Bullis, who are continually out in the weather riding the range and doing maintenance work, Mellick says.

Bares Stand On Trade

WASHINGTON — (UP) —Any broadening of Soviet-American trade is up to the Russians, Secretary of State Dean Acheson indicated yesterday.

He was commenting on Moscow reports that Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik had suggested an increase in trade with this country two days ago when he met Adm Alan G. Kirk, new American ambassador to Russia.

Acheson said the last proposal the United States had made about broadening trade with Russia came in 1947 during development of the Marshall plan.

He recalled that Russia not only refused to receive the suggestion with interest, but walked out of a meeting on the Marshall Plan and pulled Czechoslovakia out when that nation expressed interest in the recovery program.

Acheson said there were no restrictions on American trade with Russia except on materials of strategic importance which require export licenses This government carefully controls exports to Russia and her satellites of commodities that are scarce or have a war potential value

U. S. Budget Deficit To Be Higher

Byrd Predicts $5 Billion 'Red'

WASHINGTON — (UP)—Sen. Harry Byrd, D., Va., said yesterday the federal deficit may run between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 during the current fiscal year unless Congress cuts President Truman's budget.

Byrd, one of the leaders of the Senate economy bloc, told reporters he fears that last week's report on the deficit for 1949 may mean that the prospective deficit for fiscal 1950 will be higher than earlier forecasts.

Only last week, Byrd predicted in a Senate speech that the deficit for the year ending June 30, 1950, would run between $3,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 and that the deficit for the year ended last Thursday would be about $1,50,000,000.

Two days later, the treasury reported that the 1949 deficit was $1,811,000,000. Some members of the Senate understood that the treasury itself expected the deficit to be about $1,500,000,000 only a day or two before the larger figure was announced.

To whittle the prospective deficit for the new fiscal year, the economy group in the Senate was relying on hopes for substantial cuts in the military and foreign aid appropriations still awaiting action.

One informed source said the appropriations subcommittee handling the defense appropriation may cut as much as $1,250,000,000 from the House-approved bill. The House added more than $600,000,000 to the spending authority requested by the administration for the armed services.

Meanwhile, Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska said pressure for a heavy cut in foreign aid funds seems to be diminishing. He attributed the trend to the fears of some senators that reduced exports would have an adverse effect on the domestic economy.

But Wherry said he still believes the proposed appropriations for foreign aid and defense will have to be trimmed "by $2,000,000,000 to $2,500,000,000 in order to balance the budget for fiscal 1950."

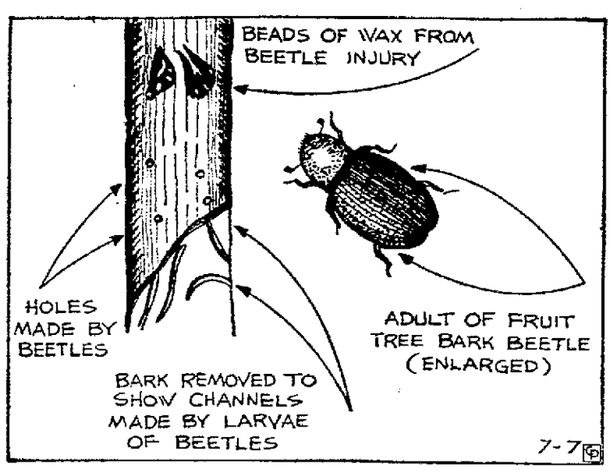
Protection For Fruit Trees



BEADS OF WAX FROM BEETLE INJURY
HOLES MADE BY BEETLES
ADULT OF FRUIT TREE BARK BEETLE (ENLARGED)
BARK REMOVED TO SHOW CHANNELS MADE BY LARVAE OF BEETLES
7-7

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Fruit trees, especially those which have been weakened in any way, are subject to the attack of the fruit tree - bark beetle. This insect, a native of Europe, is now found generally over the United States. An adult beetle, enlarged, is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

The beetle bores into the bark of fruit trees, making shot-like holes, as illustrated. The holes are connected beneath the bark by winding channels, also illustrated.

The beetle holes are often revealed by sawdust or borings on the bark of the tree. On peach, cherry and other stone fruits these holes are usually covered and sealed by dried beads of waxlike gum, as illustrated.

During the winter, the fruit tree-bark beetle is in the grub or larval stage in the inner bark. In the early spring they change to purpae and emerge as full-grown insects during June and July.

The best method of preventing attacks of this bettle is to keep fruit trees healthy by providing ample water and food. A spring application of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia is recommended. Apply to the surface of the soil above the roots of the trees.

During the winter all badly diseased trees or branches of infected trees should be cut out and burned.

Swiss Dig Deep To Furnish Funds For Stricken Europe

ZURICH —(UP)—Switzerland, with only 4,000,000 inhabitants, has given 1,000,000,000 francs (about $250,000,000) to aid war victims throughout the world in the eight-year period 1940-1948 an official survey revealed.

Half sum came from state funds and the remainder was contributed by private individuals.

The generous work, regarded by many Swiss as a sort of conscience-payment in gratitude for the fact that their neutral country was spared direct war damage, still goes on.

It is currently under the aegis of the Swiss "Europahilfe" (Aid to Europe), successor of the wartime "Don Suisse," federating more than 100 public and private charitable organizations. Its principal emphasis is on aid to children, through UNICEF and other organizations.

The 1,193,190,000 francs distributed to war victims during the eight-year period represents an outlay of 265 francs (about $46) for every Swiss citizen.

The official total includes government contributions of 153,000,000 francs to the "Don Suisse," 120,000,000 for civilian refugees, 38,000,000 in free transportation for charitable shipments, and 213,000,000 advanced for military internees.

Special collections produced 135,000,000 francs for the Swiss Red Cross and more than 51,000,000 francs for the "Don Suisse," and a total of 78,000,000 for various special charities such as the Pestalozzi Town for war-victim children, the Furniture for England Fund, and numerous civic sponsorships such as "Zurich Helps Vienna."

Also included in the total were 76,000,000 francs for the International Refugee organization and its predecessors, 30,000,000 for the International Red Cross, and an estimated 250,000,000 francs in individual gifts and charities (food packages, vacations in Switzerland for war - victim children, etc.)

Not yet included was the sum of 250,000,000 francs which Switzerland will contribute to European reconstruction under the Washington agreement.

The survey, issued in Berne in connection with an official "thank-you" from UNICEF for Swiss help, pointed out that much of Switzerland's aid program could not be estimated in financial terms.

It said, for example, that one of the most valuable Swiss contributions to UNICEF consisted in providing special tranining for physicians and other experts from war-raraged countries, the ultimate value of which ranged far beyond its actual physical cost.

Columbus' Historic Discovery Of America Cost Only $14,000

America was not discovered accidentally while Columbus was sailing for China as the legends would have you believe. He was actually searching for new Atlantic islands. The epic discovery cost $14,000.

There was no unanimous Yankee Doodling for the Revolution. One-third of the colonists opposed independence. . . . You've heard the simile "as American as a hot dog." But it originally was a German delicacy. Ever hear of Edmund Randolph? Salute that name—for he was the first American to propose a constitutional form of government.

America served as a haven for German refugees as far back as 1683. . .Have some explosive irony: The North's Gen. Sherman was pro - slavery—Dixie's Gen. Lee was anti-slavery.

Paul Revere was an immigrant's son . . . FDR was part-French, part-English, part-Swedish, part-Dutch, part-Scottish — and All-American . . . Alexander Hamilton was another foreign-born Yankee Doodler.

Have a Riply: There was once a Negro senator from Mississippi.

Criticism is as old as U. S. history: Many of the delegates to the Constructional Convention bitterly criticized the document and refused to sign the final draft . . . There are 256 distinctive religious denominations in Uncle Samville . . . Michael Schlatter and John Zublin (founders and organizers of the Protestant Church in the U. S.) hailed from Switzerland

Washington warned of Civil War perils in 1798 . . . Patrick Henry opposed ratification of the Constitution . . . Betsy Ross did not design Old Glory.

Catholics were persecution victims prior to Revolution. They played a valiant role in the War of Independence — and the initial amendment became a part of the Constitution mainly as a tribute to them . . . Jefferson admitted many of his ideas about liberty were shaped by his good friend, Italian-born Philip Mazzei.

Most vital life - saver during the last war was blood plasma. The scientist who solved the problem of preserving blood plasma was a Negro named Dr. Charles R. Drew.

Captain Louis Cukela won TWO Congressional Medals of Honor during the initial World War. He came from Yugoslavia . . . Even our most priceless liberties are immigrants. The Bill of Rights is based on Britain's Magna Charta.

Before it became the Democratic Party it was known as the Republican and Democratic-Republican Party. . .Until 1793 the U. S. had no political parties.

Refugees flooding American? During the past decade there was only one year when the annual immigration quota was filled. . . In the House a Congresswoman is called a Congresswoman. In the Senate she is called a Senator.

Until the 2nd World War Congress passed 5 declarations of war. During World War II it passed 6 declarations of war. . . Startling to learn that Senators were not directly elected by the people until 1913 Before that they were chosen by State Legislatures. The greatest football coach of all—Knute Rockne—was an immigrant.

Technically there are no national holidays. Congress' jurisdiction for the establishment of legal holidays is limited to the District of Columbia . . . There are more Luxembourgers in Iowa than in Luxembourg.

PATRIOTIC KIDDIES—Yesterday afternoon approximately 60 children at Johns Park took part in one of the patriotic parades which are being held at city playgrounds this week as the special event in the City Recreation Playground program. Dressed in paper hats and riding decorated vehicles, the children march briskly down the street in the picture at the top.

Youth Given Church Post

Named Editorial Commission Chief

Richard Van Voorhis, son of Mrs. Jane Shearer, 422 Springmill street, has been appointed chairman of the national editorial commission of the National Youth cabinet of the Evangelical and Reformed church. The action was taken at the fourth national conference on Christian education in the Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational-Christian churches held at Lakeside.

Van Voorhis was among approximately 200 young people who attended the convention. Adults made up the rest of the group of 1,300. He attended as a delegate from the Synodical cabinet of the Evangelical and Reformed church in northwest Ohio.

Other Mansfielders at the conference included Mrs. E. Jackson Osborne and Fred Zumstag, both delegates from St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church.

Van Voorhis also attended a meeting of the executive committee of the National Council of Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational-Christian church as a delegate from St. John's church.

Children Stage Patriotic Parades

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Children participating in thhe City Recreation department's playground program are holding patriotic parades as the special event in this week's program.

Each week some special event is planned in addition to the program of games, contests, story telling, sports and handicraft work. This week the theme of the special event was based on the Fourth of July holiday.

Children at Maple Lake Park dressed in paper hats and rode decorated bikes, scooters, and tricycles Tuesday as they marched to Middle Park where they picked up the Rebecca Grubaugh group and then to North Lake Park to meet the youngsters there. The combined groups assembled in North Lake Park for story-telling and other activities.

Yesterday morning Liberty Park youngsters paraded, and yesterday afternoon the group at Johns Park held a parade.

This afternoon the children at the South Boulevards playground marched on Sunset boulevard.

At Johns Park, where 100 to 150 children from three to 15 participate in the playground program daily, approximately 60 took part in the parade.

Dressed in paper hats they had made with the assistance of playground workers, the youngsters, from little tots on up, paraded around the streets adjacent to the park. The color scheme was red, white and blue, with bicycles, scooters, wagons, tricycles, and even roller skates decorated in these colors. The children decorated their own vehicles with crepe paper, ribbon, and small flags.

MAJORETTES LEAD

Leading the parade were three drum majorettes, followed by two girls carrying a banner reading, "Johns Park Patriotic Parade."

After the parade, Miss Dolores Powenski and Miss Marilyn Miller, playground assistants, selected the best decorated bicycle, tricycle, scooter and wagon.

Winners were Ronald Overley, 287 Buckley avenue, bicycle; Robert Nelson, 524 Stocking avenue, tricycle; Nancy Sgrow, 327 Chester avenue, scooter; and Robert Sachs, 287 Bulkley avenue, wagon.

Following the parade, the children took part in contests and relays.

Death Claims Mrs. Baer, 76

Mrs. Martha Baer, 76, widow of Charles W. Baer, of 225 South Diamond street, died this morning at Madison hospital after a lingering illness.

She was born in Mansfield Sept. 30, 1872 and spent her entire life in this vicinity. Mrs. Baer was a member of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church; White Cross Temple No. 101. Pythian Sisters; Ruth Chapter No. 17, Eastern Star; and Naomi White Shrine No. 10.

Surviving are a brother, Edward F. Goetz, with whom she made her home; and several nieces and nephews.

Rev. Paul H. Saleste, of Ashland, will conduct services at the Wappner funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

City To Sell Street Bonds

Finances Portion Of Project Costs

Issuance of bonds totaling $144,850 to pay the property owners' share of 18 street and sewer projects completed in 1948 was authorized by city council last night.

There will be one $850 and and 144 one - thousand - dollar bonds issued. The bonds will be advertized for public sale.

Receipts from the bonds will befor property owners share of the cost of 15 street projects and three sewer projects completed last year.

Included are: North Adams street resurfacing, $500; South Adams street resurfacing, $1,150; Abbeyfeale road paving, $6,000; Bowland road paving, $9,100; Barnard avenue grading, $2,050; Clifton avenue paving, $7,000; South Diamond street resurfacing, $1,900:

Ordinances to appropriate funds to supplement the city's share in three street and sewer improvement projects were approved by city council last night.

Also approved was legislation to proceed with the improvement of Platt street, between Wayne street and a point 272 feet east of Wayne street.

Additional funds for the city's share of the cost of the following three projects were appropriated: Abbeyfeale road paving, $465.39; Bowland road paving, $420.94, and Fifth street sanitary sewer, $150 24.

Council approved an ordinance to proceed with the improvement on Wayne street that will cost property owners $1,300 and the city $50. The street will be graded, and covered with slag.

Council also approved an ordinance to borrow the property owner's share of $1,300 in anticipation of the issuance of bonds and collection of assessments on the foot front plan.

Council Sets Up Insurance Funds

City council last night appropriated $1,500 to purchase insurance on its new buildings.

The ordinance approved by council authorizes Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison to advertise for the purchase of fire and extended coverage insurance on all new buildings.

Among the new buildings are the recently completed pumping station in the Clear Fork project, No. 4 fire station and a new garage at Liberty park.

Trims Nails, Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — The coroner's office today reported the strange case of a man who fatally wounded himself while trimming his toenails. Emmett Cornihan, 44, a teamster, slipped and fell on his scissors, puncturing his left chest above the heart.

Mrs. W. H. Hipp, 481½ Woodward avenue, is convinced more accidents happen in the home than any other place. Just the other day, Mrs. Hipp returned from a 7,000-mile motor trip through the southwest without so much as a flat tire to talk about. But yesterday while catching up with her washing, Mrs. Hipp caught her thumb in the wringer and seriously injured her hand. She is reported recovering from her painful accident. Mrs. Hipp accompanied her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wenning, 398 West Third street, and Wenning's mother, Mrs. F. A Wenning, 575 Garfield place, on the trip.

SAVED HER SHOES —

When yesterday's sudden downpour caught many Mansfielders unprepared just as they were leaving offices and stores at the close of the working day, one Mansfield woman didn't get her good shoes ruined by all the water. She stopped under an awning on Main street to remove her shoes, put them in a paper bag under her arm and ran down the street barefoot.

★

LOTS OF RELIEF —

Youngsters at the corner of East Second street and Hedges street late yesterday got a double dose of cooling water and relief from the heat. As the rain poured down, they gathered in the center of the street where a water main had evidently 'sprung a leak'. With water coming from both above and below, the kids were having a 'splashing good' time.

Organizations Benefit From Teacher's Will

Several Mansfield organizations were named as beneficiaries in a will filed in probate court today.

From the estate of Miss Harriet E. Haynes, late Mansfield school principal, $1,500 was left to the Mansfield Humane society, Friendly House, the county chapter of the American Red Cross, First Methodist Episcopal church, the home and foreign missionary societies of the First Methodist Episcopal church and the Ladies Aid society of the church. Also included in the will was the Mansfield chapter of the Volunteers of America.

Each of these organizations will get $200 except the Humane society which was willed $300.

Ex-Mansfield Child Stricken

Charlene Stinehour, 10, daughter of Mrs. Norman Dresser, former Mansfielder, died yesterday in Toledo hospital. The child had been ill with rheumatic fever for three months.

The body was returned to Mansfield yesterday and taken to the Geiger funeral home, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday. Dr. W. N. Taylor, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will officiate and burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Born in Mansfield on Jan. 11, 1939, the child was a former pupil at Rebecca Grubaugh school. She moved to Toledo six months ago with family.

Besides her mother, she is survived by her father, Charles D. Stinehour of Mansfield; her stepfather, Norman Dresser, former Sunday editor of The News-Journal and now a copy editor of the Toledo Blade; one sister, Lovina Stinehour of Toledo, and her maternal grandfather, L. A. Wade of Mansfield. Other survivors are two half-sisters and a half-brother, all of Mansfield.

175 Vote To Hold School

Reveal Survey On Restaurants

A large step towards bettering conditions in Richland county restaurants was taken at a meeting of owners and employes last night when those present voted to establish a county-school to educate both operators and employes.

The meeting, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, was under the direction of Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner. There were 175 persons present, almost all of whom voted in favor of the proposed educational program

Results of a survey conducted by James Loomis, local food and restaurant inspector, were announced at the meeting.

The survey revealed that 91.3 per cent of the 254 county establishments which were inspected in the county met with minimum health department requirements.

The city-county food handlers got an all over rating of 72 per cent This figure is considerably higher, Dr. Wain said, than in other communities where no active health program has begun.

POOR DISHWASHING

However on the other side of the picture 91.3 per cent of the places surveyed failed to pass dishwashing requirements; 46.8 per cent failed to have clean equipment, and almost 30 per cent had unclean toilets. Only 3.7 per cent had unclean employes and one per cent unsafe drinking water. The survey was conducted by Loomis over a two month period.

Loomis also pointed out that the restaurants in the county do an estimated $58,000 daily business and that 55,000 to 60,000 persons enter food serving establishments at least once each day.

With Dr. Wain and Loomis on the program were Norman Hahn, inspector of the division of foods and dairies for the state department of agriculture; Peter Hergett, president of the Richland County Liuquor Permit Holders association, and O. C. Carter, assistant engineer, from the state department of health.

A film depicting good and bad food serving practices was shown to the group.

OSR Seeks 3 Escapers

Three inmates of the Mansfield reformatory who fled the institution farm yesterday afternoon were the object of a widespread search today.

According to reformatory officials, the three men walked away from a corn field north of the institution in which they were working at the time of their escape about 3 p. m. yesterday. All three were still at large this morning.

The escapers are Jack Mann, 30, Lewis McWilliams, 27, and Fred McWilliams, 24.

Mann was received from Lawrence county Oct. 18, 1947 to serve one to 15 years for burglary. The McWilliams brothers were received from Athens county Jan. 17, 1949 to serve one to seven years on a charge of larceny.

Mansfielders To Meet At Cedar Point

Mansfield members of at least seven organizations will attend conventions at Cedar Point during the next two months.

Officials of the resort announced 22 conventions have been scheduled for this season.

July conventions include Ohio Plumbers, July 7 to 9; Ohio High School Athletic Association officials, July 28 to 30; and Knights of Columbus, July 29 to 31.

August conventions already scheduled include Buckeye Liquor Dealers, Aug. 7 to 9; County Recorders, Aug. 13 to 14; Farm Bureau, Aug. 15 to 17, and Ohio Elks, Aug. 27 to 31.

City Extends Police Powers To Clear Fork Lake Area

Police and sanitary regulations effective in the city of Mansfield were extended to the Clear Fork reservoir area by city council last night.

The ordinance approved by council gives Caretaker Lester Cullen police powers at the reservoir.

It also authorizes all duly appointed law enforcement officers to enforce police regulations over property owned by the city outside its corporation limits.

When the caretaker was appointed at Clear Fork reservoir he was to have police powers, but council was not certain if the city had the authority to extend its law enforcement ordinances outside the city and county.

However, the Ohio General Code states the city may establish law enforcement over its property outside the city limits.

Violators would be prosecuted in the Mansfield municipal court, and the fines would be the same as if the violaton took place within the city.

Answers Charges of AEC Mismanagement

WASHINGTON — (AP) — David E Lilienthal said yesterday the United States was "virtually unarmed atomically" in 1947 when the Atomic Energy commission was created.

Formally answering charges of "incredible mismanagement" by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Lilienthal said the AEC couldn't be poorly managed if its production of A-bombs was as good as the Iowa senator admits it is.

Lilienthal said the commission's whole program was directed toward giving this country "unquestioned and unqualified leadership" in the atomic field.

For that reason, he said the commission had to ignore many "useful" things it might have done and had to put up with some "careless, stupid and negligent" personnel at times.

Pursuing a policy of letting nothing "stand in the way of arming the nation atomically" has meant 'sticking our necks out" and disregarding "bureaucratic procedures," the AEC chairman went on, but it has also gotten a job done

And, drawing on the Bible, Lilienthal declared:

'By their fruits ye shall know them."

Lilienthal was in the witness chair of the Senate-House Atomic committee, formally replying to Hickenlooper's charges.

For the last five weeks, the committee has heard Hickenlooper cite specific matters which he said supported his charges The AEC has defended and replied as these matters were brought out but is now launching into a more detailed defense

Lilienthal said his opening statement was intended 'to develop a setting for the witnesses to follow"

He called Hickenlooper's language "very extreme" and said the charges were of the "gravest possible character and so regarded by the country"

Commits Suicide

CANTON — (AP) — Fred L Parmellee, 75, former member of the Canton symphony orchestra, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself, Coroner Edward C Reno reported He said the former trombonist had been despondent over ill health

Destefano enlisted the aid of the U S Red Cross and two airlines to regain the child

Jap Rail Chief Found Murdered

TOKYO — (UP) The decapitated body of the president of Japan's government-owned railways was found on railroad tracks on the outskirts of Tokyo yesterday and authorities believed he was murdered.

An autopsy was under way to determine whether Sadanori Shimoyama had committed suicide in despair over having to fire 30,000 railway workers at the government's order yesterday, or whether he had been murdered by persons opposed to the order.

A&P

Customers' Corner

A good food store must be a clean store.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

Sometimes during rush periods it's hard to keep a store as neat as it should be But that's our job, and you will be doing us a favor if you will let us know if your A&P store ever fails in any way to measure up to our high standards of cleanliness.

Hints GOP Aided Fraud

'Ballot' Trial Charges Hurled

LEXINGTON, KY., — (UP) — The defense in the vote fraud trial of Edward F. Prichard jr., and A. E. Funk jr., indicated yesterday it would try to prove that fraudulent ballots found in Bourbon county ballot boxes last Nov. 2 were placed there by Republicans in an effort to invalidate the election in those precincts.

Under cross-examination by defense Attorney Victor Bradley, William C. Collier of Paris, Ky., who was Democratic judge at Clintonville 3 precinct, testified that a Republican worker tried to seize the illegal ballots.

Collier said that shortly after the ballots were found in the box before the polls opened, Russell C. Day, Republican member of the county election commission, drove up to the polling place, jumped from the car and said, "Those are Cooper's ballots." John Sherman Cooper was the G. O. P. candidate for U. S. senator.

S. H. Mattox, Republican judge in the same precinct, later corroborated that Day had referred to the ballots as "Cooper's ballots."

Earlier, Mrs. Grace Haskins Berry, former Bourbon county court clerk, testified that county attorney William Baldwin, a close friend of Prichard, had access to a key to the vault where the ballots were kept before the election.

ATTACK DRIVER—Mrs. Daisy Kenny (left rear) is restrained by a friend after striking Joseph Sullivan, 27, (face bandaged), a hit-run driver who injured a 1-year-old boy and was captured in a hetic chase in which a woman was killed in New York. Sulivan, a parolee, is said to have fled the scene after his car struck the boy. A police car gave chase, several shots were fired at the fleeing car and one bullet ricocheted and struck a woman who died later in a hospital. An enraged mob of angry parents attacked Sullivan as police led him away. He had to be hospitalized.

Columbus Agricultural Chief Seeks Wheat Storage Space

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Dale Williams, state director of the Agriculture department's production and marketing administration, said yesterday that he was trying to lease space for storage of a record wheat crop to be harvested in this area.

He disclosed that he was trying to lease Cleveland's $50,000,000 bomber plant for a 3,000,000 bushel bin and that he hoped to get part of the big Wright Aeronautical corporation plant near Cincinnati for the purpose. The administration is also considering a number of smaller places.

Under the storage arrangement, farmers would bring their wheat to the warehouse and be given receipts. The department then would loan from $2.05 a bushel up on the receipts and pay 11 cents a bushel storage charges. The market now is 30 cents below the loan figure.

Williams said it was too soon to tell whether storage would be an annual problem and any arrangements made now might become permanent.

"There have been a lot of changes in wheat in the last 15 years," he said. "We've had three big crops in a row, and in addition, the increasing use of the combine instead of the threshing machine has speeded up the movement to the elevators and mills. This throws it all on the market at once."

Heat Hits Record 158

Hundreds Collapse After Hurricane

LISBON, Portugal, — (UP) — A sudden heat blast which lasted two minutes shot thermometers up to 158 degrees Fahrenheit on the central Portuguese yesterday. Hundreds of persons were prostrated

Thousands of fish and fowl were killed by the freak blast

The phenomenon followed a hurricane which ripped through northern Portugal, smashing vineyards, olive groves and crops and flooding the Midlandela area.

Dispatches from Figueira, on the coast, said the heat blast struck like tongues of fire"

It came as thousands of women jammed the market places Many collapsed in the streets Some rushed for shady places and knelt in prayer the Mondego river, which empties into the Atlantic at Figueira, dried up at several points between Coibra and the ocean. At one village, thousands of fish died in mud.

A naval spokesman at Figueira said that 158 degree temperature were recorded He said the blast passed by after two minutes. The "normal" temperature in the region was 100.

Bankroll Saved

FORT WORTH, Tex. - (UP) — A passerby's honesty saved F. M. Davis $440. Jim Hollingsworth saw the roll of bills in the front seat of the car when he passed by, left a note for the owner and took the money to police headquarters. The money had slipped unnoticed from Davis' pocket as he parked the car.

State Will Conceal Bid Estimates

Seeks To Curb 'Close' Bidding

COLUMBUS — (INS) — State Highway Director T. J. Kauer has announced a new policy of concealing the state estimates on all department projects to force more competitive bidding from the contractors.

Kauer said the new policy would go into effect July 19 when some 60 projects valued at more than five million dollars will be up for bidding.

The director said he expected no boycott or opposition from the contractors.

He said "several of them already have indicated their approval of the policy."

The director pointed out it had long been the custom of conceal the estimate of federal projects and that the concealment policy on state projects had been used by other administrations.

He said the new theory was not designed to eliminate "single-shot bids" where a project is bid on by only one contractor.

He said the main idea was to require the contractors to bid what they think the job is worth and not against the state estimates. Kauer said.

"We've received bids that were only $25 beneath the $80,000 estimate or ven just a couple of dollars lower than a $5,000 estimate. This doesn't look like competitive bidding to me."

The director pointed out, however, that the simple fact that only one contractor bid on a job did not necessarily mean there was a lack of competition. He said the bidder may have been scared by the unfulfilled threat of other bidders or it might be that he was the only one of the area equipped for the job.

Kauer said that on a small resurfacing project where there was only one contractor in the area with an asphalt plant, it would cost another contractor about $5,000 to move in his equipment.

Act Against Injunction

MARION — (AP) — The Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers (CIO) took its first legal step yesterday in an effort to block a permanent injunction against the union and to get a temporary injunction dissolved.

Members of the union's Marion Local 503 have been on strike for 90 days in a wage and union shop dispute with the Ohio Associated Telephone company.

In the action, Thomas C. Fetter, a union official, asked the Marion county Common Pleas Court to require the company to make its petition definite and certain in respect to acts the union and its officers are charged with having committed.

Fetter told the court nowhere in the 14-page petition does the company accuse specific individuals of wrongdoing. Fetter said the defendants have a right to know of what specific acts the company complains and which defendants are responsible.

Suspect Goes Out On Limb As K-9 Acts

METHUEN, MASS. —(INS)— Duke, a police dog, put his K-9 corps training to good use yesterday when he treed a man who broke into the home of his master Charles McCallum.

The intruder, identified by police as Joseph Dionne of Pelham, N. H., was taken by officers from a tree where he had been chased by the 75-pound dog.

Duke, a veteran of wartime K-9 corps service in the Pacific, was adopted by the McCallums when their son Chester, 24, was mustered out of the army.

'Basing Point' Battle Under Way

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Arrival of the so-called "basing point" price bill in the House today signalled the start of a lively dispute over anti-trust laws.

Already passed by the Senate, the complex and legally-involved measure affects industry-wide pricing practices.

In brief, the bill would amend the Clayton Anti-Turst law to exempt from possible anti-trust prosecution those manufacturers who "absorb" freight charges from a "base" mill point in quoting delivered prices to customers.

16 Mansfield Golfers In Ohio 'Am' Field

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

BERNIE MATHIAS should be one of the entrants in the Ohio Amateur tournament which starts next week at Westbrook. . . . He's a pretty good linksman and qualified for the competition according to the Ohio Public Links association. . . . There should be nothing else required. . . . The Ohio Golf association, which sponsors the Amateur, gives the Publinx group a right to select 24 of its golfers to play in the Buckeye meet. . . . Mathias was certified as one of the 24. . . . Publinx golfers qualify through play in their state tournament. . . . Mathias was not among the top qualifiers but many of the golfers who played in the state public links have found they will be unable to play here next week.

So Mathias got his chance. . . . Now along comes the Ohio association which says Bernie cannot play because he picked up on one hole in the state Publinx meet and did not turn in a second round scorecard. . . . The Ohio group says Bernie did not officially participate because he picked up and players who don't participate in the public links cannot play in the "Am. . . . Conversely the Publinx group says Bernie did play and Bernie says he did because he plunked down a juicy entry fee. . . . There seems to be something "rotten in Denmark." . . . All a private club player has to do to get in the "Am" is to have a handicap of six or less. . . . A public course player has to qualify and then be "lucky" a technicality doesn't finish things. . . . It would seem that all golfers in Ohio with a prescribed handicap should be eligible for the "Am". . . . We've heard that some pretty choice shotmakers come from the public courses.

Ascot Breaks Betting Mark

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A new single-day wagering record was established July 4 at Akron's Ascot park, the state racing commission reported today.

A holiday crowd of 11,500 wagered $202,339 on eight races, exceeding the track's previous high of $30,000. The old record was set on gold cup day last year.

Cincinnati's River Downs track handled the largest mutuels with $254,324 wagered.

Harness racing fans at Marion wagered $13,576 on the afternoon of the 4th and $16,145 at night.

Technicality Knocks 17th Out of Meet

By CHARLEY STINE

At least 16 Mansfielders will compete in the Ohio Amateur golf tournament in its six-day run next week at Westbrook Country club.

Twelve Westbrook members have sent in entry blanks along with two Public Links players and two who are non-resident members of Sandusky Country club.

The Westbrook members entered are Al Hager, Carl Wiseman, Vic Salter, Gene Zediker, Dick Koozer, Owen Hegarty, Bob Cruickshank, Bill Black jr., Dale Rose, Pete Linster, Dick Hosler, and Jim Hegarty. The two Public Links players, Ted Etzel and Pete Thoma, were certified by being among the top 24 of the Ohio Publinx tournament.

Two surprise additions were Arnie Adams and Ed Blonston. The two play at Sandusky Plum Brook Country club on week-ends and entered through that club.

A 17th Mansfielder — Bernie Mathias—just missed out on a technicality. Mathias was ruled out by the tournament committee of the Ohio Golf Association because he did not turn in a card for the final 18 holes of the Ohio Public Links tournament.

Since the National Public Links joust is also next week, the Ohio Publinx association was forced to send alternates because some of its top men are playing in that. When others from this district turned down the invitation, Mathias was certified as eligible by the association.

5 PUBLINXERS

The possibility looms that only five Public Links golfers will play in the "Am." Ohio Golf Association secretary E. H. Davis reports that only three Dayton men and the two from Mansfield (Etzel and Thoma) have been certified. The Publinx association has only until Saturday noon to get the names in and entry blanks to the participants and back again.

No public links golfer has ever won the Ohio Amateur tournament.

The "Am." entry list is now over the 100 mark and officials estimate the field at around 150.

Some 22 tournament entrants played practice rounds at Westbrook yesterday but only four turned in scorecards. All were Lima men. Jack Mallay had an 80, Jim Clark, 77; Joe Sarno, 78; and Gerald Line, 76.

Loudonville 9 Plays Willard

Loudonville's crack American Legion junior nine, one of the three undefeated teams in the fifth district, is to face Willard at 4 p. m. Saturday in the third round of the district play at New London.

Only Lorain, Galion and Loudonville are still undefeated in the district. Lorain is to meet Wadsworth at 11 a. m. Saturday while Elyria plays Plymouth at 1:30. Drawings for Sunday play will be held after the games.

Galion is playing in the Upper Sandusky section of the district and is to meet the winner of Saturday's Upper Sandusky-Fremont game on Sunday afternoon.

SPRING LAKE, N. J. — (AP) — Pancho Gonzales, Frankie Parker, Gardnar Mulloy, Bill Talbert, Frank Shields, Sidney Wood jr., Jack Geller and Edward Moylan gained the quarter-finals in the Spring Lake invitation tournament.

Not Much Change In Yank Clipper Through Years

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Joe DiMaggio, the most dramatic figure in sports at the moment, has changed less through the years than any big-timer you can call to mind.

He hasn't lost a natural shyness or become overly talkative in rising from a minor leaguer to one of the great figures in the history of baseball.

The first time this writer ever laid eyes on him he was standing alone in the lobby of Madison Square Garden on the night of a fight. He had just come up from San Francisco. That would be 1936.

When I asked him how he liked New York (which I also was seeing for the first time) he said fine and added that he hoped he would do all right with the Yankees.

Then as now he looked straight at you and answered your questions without giving you a lot of guff and without beating around the bush.

Through the years, I must have seen him in the dressing room after he had a bad day or a good day at bat or in some eating place, or elsewhere, a hundred times. He hasn't changed yet. He looks at you and answers your questions and chats with you without showing any great concern about anything.

TIGHT AS CLAM

Yet, he is concerned about many things and deeply affected by things that happen to him. You'd never know it talking with him because he is still shy and tight as a clam about personal things.

Only a few nights before he broke into the Yankee lineup to start that home run spree at Boston I was with him, and while we drank some coffee we talked about his ailing heel.

He said it felt all right again and he thought he would be ready to go again at Boston. It was all very casual. It turned out to be one of the great sport stories of these times.

DiMaggio has been hurt by a lot of things. He has actually been a luckless ball player. He has had innumerable injuries of one kind and another and for some never-explained reason he was booed constantly at Yankee stadium before he went into the service during the war.

But he still hasn't changed through all the years since I first saw him in the lobby of the Garden and he remains one of the great figures in the game today.

Penn Auto 9 Seeks Second Straight Win

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods will go after its second straight victory at 6 p. m. tomorrow when it invades Shelby for a contest with the Shelby Blues.

Penn manager Lefty Deeds is not sure yet of his starting pitcher but indicated it will be either Dutch Bader or Lou Gregoria, Both have looked good in recent starts. Deeds announced that Outfielder Ralph Majors has left the club to play full-time with the Mansfield Hawks.

Jim Guest still leads the club in hitting with a .541 mark followed by Gregoria with .385.

Karl and Traxler Pace Pin League

Garnet Karl and Bud Traxler posted the top score in the Wednesday Mixed doubles bowling league at Richland Recreation last night. The pair combined for 333-327-302—962. Traxler had a 539 himself while Evelyn Schindler led the women with 475.

Sally Foster and Don Dancer won two games, to give them a 15-2 record and the league lead.

Movie Stars Set For Whacky Game In Cleveland Park

Fifty film idols will take over Cleveland Stadium Sunday for the MOVIE STAR WORLD SERIES at 1:30 p. m.

It won't be like any athletic contest seen before in these parts as the "Comedians" and the "Tragedians," straight from Hollywood, cut loose against each other in a screwy extravaganza of slaphappy madness.

There'll be a star-studded lineup for each team, with names like Eddie Bracken, James Craig, Sonny Tufts, Peter Lawford, Robert Alda and Albert Dekker leading the list.

Girls? Sure there'll be girls, the most beautiful the film capital can send along as bat girls—stars like Celeste Holm, Virginia O'Brien, and Kathryn Grayson. They won't be hiding their charms, either. Official bat girl uniform is shorts and sweaters. And this is the only game in the world where a bat girl is liable to start running around the bases!

Umpire for the game will be Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd, complete with his two trusty six-shooters and rarin' for action.

Proximity Beats Rodney In 2 Heats

GOSHEN, N. Y. — (AP) — Proximity, brown mare owned by Gordon and Ralph Verhurst of Victor, N. Y., yesterday won the $10,000 Titan free-for-all trot at Historic track.

Driven by C. Hodgins, Proximity won two straight heats to defeat Rodney, 1948 horse of the year, which finished second both times. Vita Lee was third, finishing there in both heats.

Sons of Herman Ball Team Meets Tonight

The Sons of Herman junior baseball team will be organized at a meeting today at 6 p. m. at the Hermans hall. Manager Joe Miller has asked that all candidates attend the meeting.

The Hermans will play in the five-team American league sponsored by the Mansfield Hot Stove chapter. The American loop is for youths 17 and 18 years of age.

Brooklyn, St. Louis Top All-Star Squad

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK—(AP)— The major league all-stars won't settle their annual argument until Tuesday in Brooklyn, but the nation's baseball fans already have won.

The all-star squads followed exactly the dictates of the 4,637,743 fans who balloted for their favorites.

Managers Lou Boudreau of the Americans and Billy Southworth of the Nationals were bound to use only the top choice for each of the eight positions. But they exercised their judgment solely in the pitching department which wasn't included in the popular voting.

Two additions brought on by peculiar circumstances were sure to meet with the fans' approval.

Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees, who suddenly returned to his brilliant form after missing the first 65 games of the season, was included on the American league squad.

Eddie Waitkus, of the Phils, who was leading the National league first base poll when he was shot by a crazed girl admirer, was named an honorary member. He finished second to Johnny Mize of the Giants in the final vote. Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, who finished third, was picked for the active squad.

Brooklyn and St. Louis dominate the National league roster announced last night. They each landed seven players on the 26-man squad. The New York Giants placed four, followed by Boston, Cincinnati and Philadelphia with two each and Chicago and Pittsburgh with one each.

THREE DODGERS

Three of the eight National league pitchers are Dodgers — Ralph Branca, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe. Rounding out the staff are Howie Pollet and George Munger of the Cardinals; Warren Spahn and Vern Bickford of the Braves and the biggest surprise of the squad—Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati.

In picking Blackwell, who has won one and lost none while recovering from a kidney operation, Southworth left off several hurlers with more impressive records. Ken Heintzelman (10-5) and Robin Roberts (9-6) of the Phillies were bypassed as was Blackwell's Cincinnati teammate, Ken Raffensberger (8-6) who has pitched four shutouts, tops in both leagues this year.

★

The starting lineup will be Johnny Mize, Giants, 1b; Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, 2b; Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn, ss; Eddie Kazak, Cardinals, 3b; Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh, lf; Stan Musial, Cards, cf; Willard Marshall, Giants, rf, and Andy Seminick, Phillies, catcher.

Reserve catchers are Roy Campanella of Brooklyn and Walker Cooper of Cincinnati.

Other reserves are:

Infielders—Gil Hodges, Brooklyn; Red Schoendienst and Marty Marion, Cardinals; Sid Gordon, Giants, and Eddie Waitkus of the Phillies, an honorary selection.

Outfielders — Bobby Thomson, Giants; Enos Slaughter, Cardinals, and Andy Pafko, Cubs.

Madison To Meet Athletic Club 9

Madison and Mansfield Athletic club are to meet at 6 p. m. today at Blue Goose diamond in a Central Ohio junior league contest. Dick Ernsberger is slated to take the mound for the Madison nine.

Harold Snyder, Madison manager, said today that unofficial league standings show his team to be in a four-way tie for the lead with AC, Ashland, and Lucas. Madison will play Perrysville at 4 p. m. Sunday at Blue Goose.

Three Teams Enter Amateur Golf Tourney

Although interest at all three local clubs is reportedly high, only three entries have been received for the Amateur-Amateur best-ball tournament to be sponsored by the Mansfield Athletic commission, July 17.

Lack of entries has caused the tournament committee to delay the naming of the tournament site. If the list is large enough, the meet will be split up with two classes playing at Possum Run and two at Coolridge.

Full prize lists will be awarded to the top teams in Class AA (under 80), Class A (80-89), Class B (90-99), and Class C (100 and over). The tournament entry fee of $1 per person will be turned back as merchandise prizes for the top three in each class.

Indications are that the most heavily-laden classes will be "B" and "C". The first entry received was from Arthur Cocher and Ralph Miles, Class B Coolridge golfers. Entries are open to all ages.

Other entries were from Jim Switzer-Bill Graham and from Ned Simon-Charley Stine. Both teams are Class B.

2 Church Teams Seek Extension Of Win Streaks

Park Avenue Baptist and First Congregational will make an attempt to extend their winning streak in Church softball league games tonight.

Park Avenue, winner of five straight contests, will take on United Brethren at Liberty. First Congregational, victor four times without a loss, tackles St. Paul's Lutheran at Prospect.

Other games on the card send First Presbyterian against First Methodist at North Lake and First Christian against St. Matthew's at Farm Tools. First Methodist has been beaten only once in five starts and is still in the league race.

Dick Burkholder, First Congregational, leads the league hitters with .588.

Reds Loose On Top '49 Score Spree

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Anything the Cincinnati Reds do today will be anti-climactic from their record-smashing, 23 to 4, rout of the Chicago Cubs last night.

The Cincinnati batting order went completely wild, getting 26 hits off six Chicago pitchers for a total of 43 bases. This was the Major League high for the season.

Walker Cooper, recent Reds' addition, made six hits his first six times up, three of them three-run homers, and drove in 10 runs for the Cincinnati cause.

Walter Dubiel, Chicago's starting pitcher, was crippled when struck on the right elbow by a liner from Peanuts Lowry's bat in the first inning. Lowry was out but Dubiel had to leave the game.

Cooper's three homers raised his season's total to 10, six which have been hit for the Reds since he joined the club June 14 in a deal with the New York Giants.

Hank Sauer drove in second and third runs with his 14th homer and 10th he has hit for the Cubs since the Reds sent him to Chicago June 15.

HACKER IS LOSER

Because Dubiel retired with an injury and only the first Red run was charged against his pitching, the official scorer declared Warren Hacker, his first successor, to be the loser.

The previous high number of hits and runs this season was June 24 when the Boston Red Sox had 25 hits and 21 runs. The year's previous scoring high in the National League was June 12 when Brooklyn scored 20 against the Reds.

The Reds' 23 run total missed the modern record by five, and the 26-hit total was short of the modern mark by the same number. Cooper's 10 runs batted in were two short of the record.

Feller Hopes To Throw 'Em Fast

By JERRY LE DONNE

DETROIT — (AP) — Bob Feller, limping through his worst season since entering the majors in 1936, confidently predicted today that he'll be the "fastball king" again before the 1949 campaign ends.

"It's no secret that my pitches don't have the stuff they used to have," he said. "But my shoulder is getting stronger with every game so it shouldn't be too long before I can throw 'em fast again."

"In stopping Detroit with only six hits on the Fourth, I really felt my pitches had more zing," he said.

The famous Cleveland moundsman has lost many of his former worshipping fans. He's no longer the "great" Bob Feller.

Such a tumble might have caused another player to fold completely. Feller, however, is determined he won't hang up his glove at the present age of 30.

"Sure it's tough to have players I used to strike out now belting my stuff all over the lot," he said. "However, getting hit around a bit has made me just that more set on coming back and surprising a few of the boys."

Feller, laughing and jesting with his teammates, can't hide the hurt that his 5-6 record this season has caused him. He tries hard, but the humiliation of being sent to the showers definitely shows.

"I'd like to go out and up my wins to 15 or 16 but my record isn't as important as how much I help us win the pennant again," Feller said. "Last year I won 19 and lost 15 which isn't too hot, but some of those late wins came just at the right time."

This marks the first year since 1939 that Bob wasn't elected to play in the annual all-star game except for the years he was in the Navy.

"I'd like to play in the game again this season, but there's no getting around it—I just don't deserve to. Next year, just let anyone try to keep me from playing."

Cleveland Winning Streak Halted at 5 Games

Collision Accounts For 3 Chicago Runs

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians' winning streak was shattered yesterday, but they had strong consolation.

Their "boy" manager, Lou Boudreau, was looking more and more like the player who led the American league batting race for a period last year.

Although the tribe dropped a 9 to 6 verdict to the Chicago White Sox last night, Boudreau's performance was cheering. It marked the first time this season he had three hits in one game.

And each blow led to a run. His single in the second scored Larry Doby from second base. He doubled in the fourth and later scored, and he singled in the tribe's four-run rally in the eighth.

The three safeties in four trips to the plate brought his batting average up to .272, the fourth highest among the team's regulars. A week ago it was .232.

The loss snapped the Indians' winning streak at five and dropped them a half game further behind first-place New York. Rained out last night, the Yankees now have a lead of six and a half games over the third-place Indians.

So far this season, Cleveland hasn't won a single game in Chicago.

The latest jinx came in the form of a collision between two Indian players with the score tied 6 to 6 in the eighth. It resulted in three Chicago players scrambling across the plate.

The accident occurred with the bases loaded. Steve Souchok, White Sox outfielder who hadn't gotten a hit up until that point, popped a fly about 25 yards behind first base and near the foul line.

CHASE AFTER BALL

Joe Gordon, Bob Kennedy and Mickey Vernon went chasing after the ball. Gordon and Kennedy got under it and then collided as the ball hit the latter's glove and popped out. Luke Appling, Cass Michaels and Chuck Kress easily scored.

Earlier in the inning, Cleveland had sent four men home to tie up the count.

Vernon opened with a single. Larry Doby doubled him to third and he scored on a fly by Gordon. After Boudreau and Kennedy singled to fill the bases, Gene Bearden's single sent Doby and Boudreau home. Another one-bagger by Dale Mitchell pushed Kennedy over for the tying run.

The tribe used six pitchers—Steve Gromek, Mike Garcia, Sam Zoldak, Al Benton, Bearden and Satchel Paige. Paige was the loser.

British Golf Writers Don't Like Ruling

LONDON — British golf writers said today it was tough luck for Sgt. Charles Rotar of the U. S. Army to be ruled out of the British open golf championship after qualifying — but a rule is a rule.

Some of them complained, however, that the tournament committee should have examined the competitors' clubs in advance to make sure each set was within the law.

Instead, Rotar played 36 holes with an illegal putter, posted a good 74-76, and didn't learn until two hours later that he had been barred from the championship starting at Sandwich today.

"Why no early objection?" was the headline on the evening Standard's account of the affair. "Rotar's putter is of a gooseneck type," said the Standard's expert, James Goodfellow. "I saw it and had no doubt that it did not meet the traditional and accepted form of golf clubs. But it was not a glaring transgression."

"No one questions Rotar's sportsmanship and it is hoped he comes next year," Goodfellow wrote.

Rotar, a Cahton, Ohio, professional in civilian life, is stationed at Frankfurt, Germany, where he is in charge of the allied occupation forces' golf course.

Desmond Hackett of the Daily Express noted that Rotar had used the putter during a week of practice and qualifying play without hearing any official complaint. Hackett quoted an unnamed British pro as saying:

"It is time the royal and ancient took proper precautions to make sure this sort of thing cannot happen. All clubs should be examined before a player starts.

The Daily Mail's Fred Pignon contended that "Rotar had no cause for complaint."

"The competitors' programs show that players using clubs which do not conform to the specifications 'will be disqualified' and their attention is drawn to the rules," Pignon wrote.

Leonard Crawley of the Daily Telegraph said it seems "a pity" that the royal and ancient, which is Britain's supreme arbiter of golf, and the U. S. golf association "cannot see eye to eye" over the use of such putters.

"There can be no conceivable advantage in such a club, he said, "otherwise it would be used by all the best American players."

Snead Leads Money Battle

READING, PA. — (UP) — More than 150 golfers teed off today for the Reading open, another round in the continuing money battle between Slammin' Sammy Snead and Dr. Cary Middlecoff.

Hillbilly Snead, with the PGA and the PGA and the Augusta Masters titles already dangling from his belt, won the Washington Star open Monday to bring his earnings for the year to $16,460. This put him a scant $311 ahead of Middlecoff, the molars mender from Memphis who finished second to Snead to boost his total to $16,149.

Snead and Middlecoff, the U. S. Open king, were the favorites to capture the 72-hole joust over the par-70 Reading Country club course.

Association Race In Two-Way Tie

By the Associated Press

Froilan Fernandez, the infielder-outfielder known to fans as Nanny, who was traded by St. Paul to Indianapolis earlier this season, returned to the home of the Saints and slashed an eight-inning home run last night to give the Indians a 6 to 5 triumph over his former employers.

Nanny's blow put Indianapolis back into a first place tie with St. Paul for the American association leadership. He scored two of his team's six runs.

Blind Golfers Fire Away In Unique Links Tourney

By TOM BRISLIN

NORRISTOWN, Pa. —(INS)— Tomorrow 20 game guys, every one of them totally blind, will tee off in golfdom's most unique tournament.

The sightless linksmen will battle for the title of national blind golf champion.

Entered are totally blind golfers from the east, the mid-west, Texas, California and Canada.

Among them are defending National Champion Clinton F. Russell, 54-year-old retired Duluth, Minn. businessman, and former All-American halfback Charley Boswell of Alabama, blinded during the battle of the Bulge.

Russel, who is also international champion, originated the links game for the blind golfers after losing his sight when he was 40.

He will be the favorite and confidently predicts he'll fire the 36 holes of medal play in about 190 to retain his crown. Russell copped the 1948 title with scores of 102 and 98, but frequently has shot in the low nineties.

Bob Alman, Philadelphia lawyer, radio sports commentator and ex-intercollegiate wrestling champion at the University of Pennsylvania, is hopeful of wrestling the crown from Russell.

Allman, blind since the age of four, is the east's big hope to defeat the Minnesotan.

Russell also can expect stiff competition from Dr. William H. J. Oxenham, Toronto osteopath and dominion blind golfers' champion the past two years.

Dr. Oxenham, a native of England, lost his sight on the Somme in World War I and was the first blind war veteran to take up the links game without having played prior to his handicap.

Also likely to press Russell hard in this tournament literally played "by ear" are Bill Gillman, of Portland, Me., who astounded spectators at last year's Detroit tourney by dropping a 34-foot putt.

Big, strapping Chuck Boswell is sure to be up there, of course. The courageous ex-Alabama grid star, who played in the Rose Bowl in 1940, has been diligently practicing "in the dark" and constitutes a real threat to Russell.

All these sightless linksmen swing in normal fashion once their feet are lined up by the caddy. Only one concession is granted them in the rules—they can ground the club in a sand trap.

The caddy, by voice and by rattling the pin, helps the blind contestants in their pitch shots and putts. They merely clip to the voice or putt to the rattle. And the sinking of 20-foot putts is not uncommon.

Jimmy Adams Holds Slight Golfing Lead

SANDWICH, Eng., — (UP) — Scotsman Jimmy Adams, the "bridesmaid" of British golf, held a slim lead in the British Open Golf tournament today, but the wolves were snapping at his heels at the start of the second round of play.

The husky, red-faced Adams, who makes a habit out of finishing second in big tourneys, showed the way through the first round with a five-under-par 67.

As they swung into the second tour over the Royal St. Georges course, Robert De Vicenzo of Argentia and medalist Harry Bradshaw of Ireland were one stroke behind Adams. At 69 was Bobby Locke of South Africa, the tournament favorite.

Close up at 71 were the United States' chief threats — Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., and amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O.

Willie Hunter, of Riviera, Cal., the third American to qualify, was far back in the field of 96 with a three-over-par 75 and apparently out of contention.

Medalist Bradshaw looked like he would continue to dominate play when he shot a 31 on the first nine, but he slumped to 37 coming in.

STILL FAVORITE

Locke, whom the bookies are still quoting at 7 to 2 to win the title that he wants most, could blame one bad hole for the fact that he wasn't leading. Taking dead aim on the course record of 65 held by Henry Cotton, the South African ace was doing well until the 14th hole. There he walloped his drive out of bounds for two strokes, drove off again, made a poor pitch shot, and wound up with a seven.

Fielder Gets Hot to Break Up Ball Game

When Elmhurst junior high hit a homerun ball out Norman's way with the bases loaded, he started to run. As he ran the friction lighted matches and firecrackers in his right hip pocket. As he frantically fanned his own personal right field, the Elmhurst players collapsed on their bases with laughter, scoring nary a run.

The game was called on a technicality.

Sulphur Springs Still Hunts Coach

BUCYRUS — Sulphur Springs school, east of here, still is without a coach, Supt. Tom Thatcher announced today.

William C. Butler, a 1949 graduate of Capital university in Columbus, informed Supt. Thatcher Wednesday that he will be unable to accept the post. He plans to teach in Dayton.

In addition to coaching the school's athletic teams, the applicant must also instruct social science and mathematics classes.

Big Walker Cooper Gets 6 Hits In Row

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

All Walker Cooper needed was a change of scenery—or was it a change of managers?

Big Coop, who popped off publicly about his trials with the New York Giants under Leo Durocher, sounded off with his bat yesterday for his new boss—Bucky Walters—at Cincinnati.

Six straight base hits, including three three-run homers, added up to a big 10 runs batted in for the ex-Giant who went to Cincy on June 14.

The big fellow who cost Horace Stoneham $175,000 in January of 1946 had the biggest day of his long career against the Chicago Cubs yesterday afternoon. It was also the biggest day for the Reds in many a day as they rolled up a 23-4 landslide for Ken Raffensberger's ninth victory.

Cooper had a chance to tie Uncle Wilbert Robinson's all-time record of seven consecutive hits when he came up in the eighth inning. He grounded into a force play, breaking the string.

In the third, sixth and seventh innings, Cooper hammered home runs, each time with two men on base.

The heavy firing in Cincy overshadowed the pennant race which almost—but not quite—resulted in a first place tie. Brooklyn's one-game lead was cut in half when the Dodgers lost to the Boston Braves, 7-5, but the runnerup St. Louis Cards blew a 3-1 lead in the last of the ninth and bowed to Pittsburgh, 4-3. As a result the Brooks still lead by a full game.

Tommy Holmes sank the Dodgers with his third homer in the last three days. It came in the eighth with Jim Russell on base.

PIRATES STILL HOT

Johnny Hopp was the hero of the Pirates' ninth-inning rally against the Cards. His single with the bases loaded scored two runs for Pittsburgh's fifth straight victory.

Rain washed out Philadelphia-New York games in both the National and American.

Both Cleveland and Detroit lost ground in the race by dropping night games but the Boston Red Sox pulled up over the .500 mark by shutting out Washington, 5-0, in a game called in the sixth due to rain.

Steve Souchock's double with the bases loaded in the eighth gave the Chicago White Sox a 9-6 edge over Cleveland, snapping the Indians' five-game win streak.

The St. Louis Browns outlasted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5 in 13 innings, when Gerry Priddy singled home Tom Ferrick with the tie-breaking run. The Tigers moved out front in the 12th but Jack Graham's second homer of the night and 13th of the year, knotted the score again.

Shaker Picks New Mentor

CLEVELAND — (INS) — James F. Halderman, ex-Ohio University football star, will take over as head football coach and assistant basketball and baseball mentor at Cleveland's Shaker Heights high school Aug. 20.

Halderman, 29, has been coaching only three seasons but his teams have hung up impressive records.

His Gallia academy high school grid teams from Gallipolis won 19 straight games and two southeast Ohio league titles and his basketball and baseball squads shared the circuit championships with Athens last year.

Halderman replaces Art Breitenstein who resigned to accept an assistant's post at the University of Miami, Fla.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Walker Cooper, Reds, drove in 10 runs with three homers and three singles in Cincinnati's 23-4 rout of Chicago.

PITCHING — Murry Dickson, Pirates, turned back old mates with fine eight-inning relief job as Pittsburgh stopped St. Louis from moving into first place tie.

16 Mansfield Golfers In Ohio 'Am' Field

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

BERNIE MATHIAS should be one of the entrants in the Ohio Amateur tournament which starts next week at Westbrook. . . . He's a pretty good linksman and qualified for the competition according to the Ohio Public Links association. . . . There should be nothing else required. . . . The Ohio Golf association, which sponsors the Amateur, gives the Publinx group a right to select 24 of its golfers to play in the Buckeye meet. . . . Mathias was certified as one of the 24. . . . Publinx golfers qualify through play in their state tournament. . . . Mathias was not among the top qualifiers but many of the golfers who played in the state public links have found they will be unable to play here next week.

So Mathias got his chance. . . . Now along comes the Ohio association which says Bernie cannot play because he picked up on one hole in the state Publinx meet and did not turn in a second round scorecard. . . . The Ohio group says Bernie did not officially participate because he picked up and players who don't participate in the public links cannot play in the "Am. . . .

Conversely the Publinx group says Bernie did play and Bernie says he did because he plunked down a juicy entry fee. . . . There seems to be something "rotten in Denmark." . . . All a private club player has to do to get in the "Am" is to have a handicap of six or less. . . . A public course player has to qualify and then be "lucky" a technicality doesn't finish things. . . . It would seem that all golfers in Ohio with a prescribed handicap should be eligible for the "Am". . . . We've heard that some pretty choice shotmakers come from the public courses.

Ascot Breaks Betting Mark

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A new single-day wagering record was established July 4 at Akron's Ascot park, the state racing commission reported today.

A holiday crowd of 11,500 wagered $202.339 on eight races, exceeding the track's previous high of $30,000. The old record was set on gold cup day last year.

Cincinnati's River Downs track handled the largest mutuels with $254,324 wagered.

Harness racing fans at Marion wagered $13,576 on the afternoon of the 4th and $16,145 at night.

Technicality Knocks 17th Out of Meet

By CHARLEY STINE

At least 16 Mansfielders will compete in the Ohio Amateur golf tournament in its six-day run next week at Westbrook Country club.

Twelve Westbrook members have sent in entry blanks along with two Public Links players and two who are nonresident members of Sandusky Country club.

The Westbrook members entered are Al Hager, Carl Wiseman, Vic Salter, Gene Zediker, Dick Koozer, Owen Hegarty, Bob Cruickshank, Bill Black jr., Dale Rose, Pete Linster, Dick Hosler, and Jim Hegarty. The two Public Links players, Ted Etzel and Pete Thoma, were certified by being among the top 24 of the Ohio Publinx tournament.

Two surprise additions were Arnie Adams and Ed Blonston. The two play at Sandusky Plum Brook Country club on week-ends and entered through that club.

A 17th Mansfielder — Bernie Mathias—just missed out on a technicality. Mathias was ruled out by the tournament committee of the Ohio Golf Association because he did not turn in a card for the final 18 holes of the Ohio Public Links tournament.

Since the National Public Links joust is also next week, the Ohio Publinx association was forced to send alternates because some of its top men are playing in that. When others from this district turned down the invitation, Mathias was certified as eligible by the association.

5 PUBLINXERS

The possibility looms that only five Public Links golfers will play in the "Am." Ohio Golf Association secretary E. H. Davis reports that only three Dayton men and the two from Mansfield (Etzel and Thoma) have been certified. The Publinx association has only until Saturday noon to get the names in and entry blanks to the participants and back again.

No public links golfer has ever won the Ohio Amateur tournament.

The "Am." entry list is now over the 100 mark and officials estimate the field at around 150.

Some 22 tournament entrants played practice rounds at Westbrook yesterday but only four turned in scorecards. All were Lima men. Jack Mallay had an 80, Jim Clark, 77; Joe Sarno, 78; and Gerald Line, 76.

Loudonville 9 Plays Willard

Loudonville's crack American Legion junior nine, one of the three undefeated teams in the fifth district, is to face Willard at 4 p. m. Saturday in the third round of the district play at New London.

Only Lorain, Galion and Loudonville are still undefeated in the district. Lorain is to meet Wadsworth at 11 a. m. Saturday while Elyria plays Plymouth at 1:30. Drawings for Sunday play will be held after the games.

Galion is playing in the Upper Sandusky section of the district and is to meet the winner of Saturday's Upper Sandusky-Fremont game on Sunday afternoon.

Not Much Change In Yank Clipper Through Years

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Joe DiMaggio, the most dramatic figure in sports at the moment, has changed less through the years than any big-timer you can call to mind.

He hasn't lost a natural shyness or become overly talkative in rising from a minor leaguer to one of the great figures in the history of baseball.

The first time this writer ever laid eyes on him he was standing alone in the lobby of Madison Square Garden on the night of a fight. He had just come up from San Francisco. That would be 1936.

When I asked him how he liked New York (which I also was seeing for the first time) he said fine and added that he hoped he would do all right with the Yankees.

Then as now he looked straight at you and answered your questions without giving you a lot of guff and without beating around the bush.

Through the years, I must have seen him in the dressing room after he had a bad day or a good day at bat or in some eating place, or elsewhere, a hundred times. He hasn't changed yet. He looks at you and answers your questions and chats with you without showing any great concern about anything.

TIGHT AS CLAM

Yet, he is concerned about many things and deeply affected by things that happen to him. You'd never know it talking with him because he is still shy and tight as a clam about personal things.

Only a few nights before he broke into the Yankee lineup to start that home run spree at Boston I was with him, and while we drank some coffee we talked about his ailing heel.

He said it felt all right again and he thought he would be ready to go again at Boston. It was all very casual. It turned out to be one of the great sport stories of these times.

DiMaggio has been hurt by a lot of things. He has actually been a luckless ball player. He has had innumerable injuries of one kind and another and for some never-explained reason he was booed constantly at Yankee stadium before he went into the service during the war.

But he still hasn't changed through all the years since I first saw him in the lobby of the Garden and he remains one of the great figures in the game today.

Penn Auto 9 Seeks Second Straight Win

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods will go after its second straight victory at 6 p. m. tomorrow when it invades Shelby for a contest with the Shelby Blues.

Penn manager Lefty Deeds is not sure yet of his starting pitcher but indicated it will be either Dutch Bader or Lou Gregoria, Both have looked good in recent starts. Deeds announced that Outfielder Ralph Majors has left the club to play full-time with the Mansfield Hawks.

Jim Guest still leads the club in hitting with a .541 mark followed by Gregoria with .385.

Movie Stars Set For Whacky Game In Cleveland Park

Fifty film idols will take over Cleveland Stadium Sunday for the MOVIE STAR WORLD SERIES at 1:30 p. m.

It won't be like any athletic contest seen before in these parts as the "Comedians" and the "Tragedians," straight from Hollywood, cut loose against each other in a screwy extravaganza of slaphappy madness.

There'll be a star-studded lineup for each team, with names like Eddie Bracken, James Craig, Sonny Tufts, Peter Lawford, Robert Alda and Albert Dekker leading the list.

Girls? Sure there'll be girls, the most beautiful the film capital can send along as bat girls—stars like Celeste Holm, Virginia O'Brien, and Kathryn Grayson. They won't be hiding their charms, either. Official bat girl uniform is shorts and sweaters. And this is the only game in the world where a bat girl is liable to start running around the bases!

Umpire for the game will be Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd, complete with his two trusty six-shooters and rarin' for action.

Proximity Beats Rodney In 2 Heats

GOSHEN, N. Y. — (AP) — Proximity, brown mare owned by Gordon and Ralph Verhurst of Victor, N. Y., yesterday won the $10,000 Titan free-for-all trot at Historic track.

Driven by C. Hodgins, Proximity won two straight heats to defeat Rodney, 1948 horse of the year, which finished second both times. Vita Lee was third, finishing there in both heats.

Sons of Herman Ball Team Meets Tonight

The Sons of Herman junior baseball team will be organized at a meeting today at 6 p. m. at the Hermans hall. Manager Joe Miller has asked that all candidates attend the meeting.

The Hermans will play in the five-team American league sponsored by the Mansfield Hot Stove chapter. The American loop is for youths 17 and 18 years of age.

Brooklyn, St. Louis Top All-Star Squad

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK—(AP)— The major league all-stars won't settle their annual argument until Tuesday in Brooklyn, but the nation's baseball fans already have won.

The all-star squads followed exactly the dictates of the 4,637,743 fans who balloted for their favorites.

Managers Lou Boudreau of the Americans and Billy Southworth of the Nationals were bound to use only the top choice for each of the eight positions. But they exercised their judgment solely in the pitching department which wasn't included in the popular voting.

Two additions brought on by peculiar circumstances were sure to meet with the fans' approval.

Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees, who suddenly returned to his brilliant form after missing the first 65 games of the season, was included on the American league squad.

Eddie Waitkus, of the Phils, who was leading the National league first base poll when he was shot by a crazed girl admirer, was named an honorary member. He finished second to Johnny Mize of the Giants in the final vote. Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, who finished third, was picked for the active squad.

Brooklyn and St. Louis dominate the National league roster announced last night. They each landed seven players on the 26-man squad. The New York Giants placed four, followed by Boston, Cincinnati and Philadelphia with two each and Chicago and Pittsburgh with one each.

THREE DODGERS

Three of the eight National league pitchers are Dodgers — Ralph Branca, Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe. Rounding out the staff are Howie Pollet and George Munger of the Cardinals; Warren Spahn and Vern Bickford of the Braves and the biggest surprise of the squad—Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati.

In picking Blackwell, who has won one and lost none while recovering from a kidney operation, Southworth left off several hurlers with more impressive records. Ken Heintzelman (10-5) and Robin Roberts (9-6) of the Phillies were bypassed as was Blackwell's Cincinnati teammate, Ken Raffensberger (8-6) who has pitched four shutouts, tops in both leagues this year.

★

The starting lineup will be Johnny Mize, Giants, 1b; Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, 2b; Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn, ss; Eddie Kazak, Cardinals, 3b; Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh, lf; Stan Musial, Cards, cf; Willard Marshall, Giants, rf, and Andy Seminick, Phillies, catcher.

Reserve catchers are Roy Campanella of Brooklyn and Walker Cooper of Cincinnati.

Other reserves are:

Infielders—Gil Hodges, Brooklyn; Red Schoendienst and Marty Marion, Cardinals; Sid Gordon, Giants, and Eddie Waitkus of the Phillies, an honorary selection.

Outfielders — Bobby Thomson, Giants; Enos Slaughter, Cardinals, and Andy Pafko, Cubs.

Madison To Meet Athletic Club 9

Madison and Mansfield Athletic club are to meet at 6 p. m. today at Blue Goose diamond in a Central Ohio junior league contest. Dick Ernsberger is slated to take the mound for the Madison nine.

Harold Snyder, Madison manager, said today that unofficial league standings show his team to be in a four-way tie for the lead with AC, Ashland, and Lucas. Madison will play Perrysville at 4 p. m. Sunday at Blue Goose.

Three Teams Enter Amateur Golf Tourney

Although interest at all three local clubs is reportedly high, only three entries have been received for the Amateur-Amateur best-ball tournament to be sponsored by the Mansfield Athletic commission, July 17.

Lack of entries has caused the tournament committee to delay the naming of the tournament site. If the list is large enough, the meet will be split up with two classes playing at Possum Run and two at Coolridge.

Full prize lists will be awarded to the top teams in Class AA (under 80), Class A (80-89), Class B (90-99), and Class C (100 and over). The tournament entry fee of $1 per person will be turned back as merchandise prizes for the top three in each class.

Indications are that the most heavily-laden classes will be "B" and "C". The first entry received was from Arthur Cocher and Ralph Miles, Class B Coolridge golfers. Entries are open to all ages.

Other entries were from Jim Switzer-Bill Graham and from Ned Simon-Charley Stine. Both teams are Class B.

2 Church Teams Seek Extension Of Win Streaks

Park Avenue Baptist and First Congregational will make an attempt to extend their winning streak in Church softball league games tonight.

Park Avenue, winner of five straight contests, will take on United Brethren at Liberty. First Congregational, victor four times without a loss, tackles St. Paul's Lutheran at Prospect.

Other games on the card send First Presbyterian against First Methodist at North Lake and First Christian against St. Matthew's at Farm Tools. First Methodist has been beaten only once in five starts and is still in the league race.

Dick Burkholder, First Congregational, leads the league hitters with .588.

Reds Loose On Top '49 Score Spree

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Anything the Cincinnati Reds do today will be anticlimactic from their record-smashing, 23 to 4, rout of the Chicago Cubs last night.

The Cincinnati batting order went completely wild, getting 26 hits off six Chicago pitchers for a total of 43 bases. This was the Major League high for the season.

Walker Cooper, recent Reds' addition, made six hits his first six times up, three of them three-run homers, and drove in 10 runs for the Cincinnati cause.

Walter Dubiel, Chicago's starting pitcher, was crippled when struck on the right elbow by a liner from Peanuts Lowry's bat in the first inning. Lowry was out but Dubiel had to leave the game.

Cooper's three homers raised his season's total to 10, six which have been hit for the Reds since he joined the club June 14 in a deal with the New York Giants.

Hank Sauer drove in second and third runs with his 14th homer and 10th he has hit for the Cubs since the Reds sent him to Chicago June 15.

HACKER IS LOSER

Because Dubiel retired with an injury and only the first Red run was charged against his pitching, the official scorer declared Warren Hacker, his first successor, to be the loser.

The previous high number of hits and runs this season was June 24 when the Boston Red Sox had 25 hits and 21 runs. The year's previous scoring high in the National League was June 12 when Brooklyn scored 20 against the Reds.

The Reds' 23 run total missed the modern record by five, and the 26-hit total was short of the modern mark by the same number. Cooper's 10 runs batted in were two short of the record.

Feller Hopes To Throw 'Em Fast

By JERRY LE DONNE

DETROIT — (AP) — Bob Feller, limping through his worst season since entering the majors in 1936, confidently predicted today that he'll be the "fastball king" again before the 1949 campaign ends.

"It's no secret that my pitches don't have the stuff they used to have," he said. "But my shoulder is getting stronger with every game so it shouldn't be too long before I can throw 'em fast again."

"In stopping Detroit with only six hits on the Fourth, I really felt my pitches had more zing," he said.

The famous Cleveland moundsman has lost many of his former worshipping fans. He's no longer the "great" Bob Feller.

Such a fumble might have caused another player to fold completely. Feller, however, is determined he won't hang up his glove at the present age of 30.

"Sure it's tough to have players I used to strike out now belting my stuff all over the lot," he said. "However, getting hit around a bit has made me just that more set on coming back and surprising a few of the boys."

Feller, laughing and jesting with his teammates, can't hide the hurt that his 5-6 record this season has caused him. He tries hard, but the humiliation of being sent to the showers definitely shows.

"I'd like to go out and up my wins to 15 or 16 but my record isn't as important as how much I help us win the pennant again," Feller said. "Last year I won 19 and lost 15 which isn't too hot, but some of those late wins came just at the right time."

This marks the first year since 1939 that Bob wasn't elected to play in the annual all-star game except for the years he was in the Navy.

"I'd like to play in the game again this season, but there's no getting around it—I just don't deserve to. Next year, just let anyone try to keep me from playing."

Vishinsky Loses Face

NEW YORK — (UP) — Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's first deputy foreign minister, lost so much prestige by his failures at the recent foreign minister's conference in Paris that he could not reach Premier Stalin by phone, the United Nations world reported today.

The privately-owned, unofficial magazine said Vishinsky lost the Kremlin's favor because he failed in two missions at the conference. They were to gain France's agreement to drawing up a pact with Russia similar to the one signed in 1935 and to gain large concessions from the western powers to match Soviet concessions on the Austrian treaty.

"Vishinsky, eager to have Stalin act as his pilot when the three western allies thwarted his early optimism, failed to get through to Stalin by phone, despite frantic, round-the-clock efforts," the article said, quoting "authoritative" diplomatic sources. "The phone to Stalin's inner sanctum was strangely dead."

Dog Tag Sales Bring $11,216

Richland county collected $11,216 for dog tags sold in the first six months of this year, a report released by the county commissioners showed today.

There were 8,500 tags sold, 1,900 more than for the same period last year. Expenses totaled $3,268, including $2,363.62 for salaries and $438.26 for dog food, supplies, car and other expenses.

The report lists 402 dogs impounded during the period.
